HURRICANE RIPS PATH TOWARD FLORIDA COAST

Government Sends Warning to Ships as Direction Of Storm Changes

BARGES BREAK LOOSE

Center of British Rule In Bahamas In Danger; City Swept by High Wind

By The Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 4—A fall hurricane which ripped southward through the Bahama islands last night turned sharply to the west early today and endangered the east coast of Florida.

Hurricane warnings were up along the coast from Miami northward to Stuart.

The United States weather bureau advised "extreme caution" to all interests on the southeast Florida coast between Miami and Stuart against high tides and winds exceeding 75 miles an hour.

All vessels off the Florida coast were warned to proceed with caution.

The 7:30 a. m. weather bureau advistory said the storm appeared to be about 100 miles east of West Palm Beach and moving between seven and 10 miles an hour.

However, meteorologists said the intense disturbance "may continue to change direction."

Churning southward through the Atlantic yesterday, the storm skirted Great Abaco island late last night, raking Hopetown, A small settlement on the eastern coast of the island, with hurricane winds.

There were no immediate reports of casualties or property damage from the island.

Several coast guard craft dispatched yesterday to aid two large steel barges which broke loose from the tug Laura and went aground near Jupiter, Fla., left the scene and headed for port as the hurricane changed direction.

At midnight the storm appeared to be moving almost directly toward Nassau, most populous city in the Bahamas and the seat of the British colonial government.

At Nassau the government felt concern for the large sponge fleet on the banks of Andros island and utilized an airplane and radio to warn the more than 100 small vessels in the group to sail for shore. Nearly 1,500 men were aboard the boats.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. — Rain and snow pelted the middlewest yesterday while abnormal cold formed the rule in the northwest.

Meterologists saw little prospect of an invasion of the midland states by the frigid wave that has gripped the northwest.

BANDIT KILLS WOMAN PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

Taken For Ride After Fight Over Division of Loot

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4—Red-haired Vivian Chase, sharp-featured female public enemy No. 1, is dead—apparent victim of a gunman for whom she carried bullets in her purse.

Police renewed their search for John Langan, fugitive bank robber, after the body of the attractive 34-year-old consort of gangsters was found crammed in a motor car near St. Luke's hospital in a fashionable district as church chimes tolled the Sabbath.

Investigators pointed to this chain of circumstances:

The bullet which ripped through the woman's chest downward from the back of the neck was a .45 caliber—like 20 others in her handbag—the same as that which Langan fired into a Kansas deputy Sept. 12 in a gunfight in which Langan's wife was killed.

Three nights later, a gang led by a man tentatively identified by the victims as Langan, terrorized two Platte county farmers. A redhaired woman accompanied him and forced the farmers at machine gun point to obtain liquor for them.

Blood on the running board of the "ride" car, a stolen sedan, led a woman passerby to discover the body, jammed between the seats. Beneath her body her .38 caliber Spanish-type pistol, a $5 bill and a capacious handbag, in which she carried her weapons, 25 bullets for it wrapped in a blue and white handkerchief, and 20 .48 caliber bullets.

Vivian Chase was a suspect in the kidnaping of August Luer of Alton, Ill., and the seventh "accounted for." Five men and a woman are serving prison sentences ranging from five years to life. Only one suspect, Lloyd "Blacky" Doyle remains at large.

Officers said she was an associate of Alvin Karpis, now at the top of the department of justice's list of men most wanted.

COUNTY TO JOIN TAX BURDEN WAR

Group Will Be Formed Here Friday Night to Oppose New State Levies

Joining a state-wide campaign against the enactment of additional taxes in 1936 by the forthcoming session of the legislature, a Columbiana county unit of the Inter-Organization Conference will be formed at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building Friday night.

Dr. Arch D. Shultz of Columbus, an executive of the group composed of industrial, commercial financial and professional men, will address 30 representatives of six Columbiana county towns. W. O. Bloor of East Liverpool, county chairman, will preside.

Conferees Are Listed.

They are: T. H. Fisher, C. C. Cline, D. K. Trotter, P. C. Hawk, Mrs. Sarah Edmonston, L. C. Webber, William Tallman, George Farrell, A. J. McLain, R. S. Crook, R. C. Benedum, H. B. Barth, J. L. Vodrey, Lee C. Cooper, and W. O. Bloor, all of East Liverpool; Alexander McLeod, A. P. Morris, L. C. Price, James H. Wilson, Harry W. Young, W. W. Tolerton, George Bunn, Louis A Mattevi and Dr. F. R. Crawgey, all of Salem; L. S. Ward, F. J. Moore and E. D. Bailey of Lisbon; J. Campbell George, East Palestine; C. E. Greenmyer, Leetonia, and C. W. Arnold, Wellsville.

Taking the stand existing taxes are sufficient to meet the budgetary rquirements for 1936, the organization is being formed with a view of influencing senators and representatives against the levying of additional assessments.

Necessary Levies Noted

However, the reenactment of the three per-cent retail sales tax, liquid fuel tax and one percent increased tax on productive investments, all of which expire Dec. 31, 1935, and the cigaret tax, ending Oct. 31, 1936, will be necessary, leaders pointed out.

The slogan, "No New Taxes Needed in 1936," was adopted after a report by the organization's fact finding committee setting forth sufficient revenue was in sight if taxes now in force were renewed. While municipalities will receive the same income as heretofore, any additional requirements will have to be met by a vote of the people on a pay-as-you-go basis, sponsors declared.

The organization will be non-political, it was explained, and the program will be confined to the Ohio tax situation.

WOMEN TAKE CONTROL OF MEXICAN VILLAGE

Government Officials Flee Before Feminine Indignation March

By The Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 4. — The women of the town of Atzacan in Vera Cruz held the municipal building today after elected officials fled before a massed feminine indignation march.

Stirred by reports of a prospective house to house search for religious images, the women hastily armed themselves with clubs and took over control of the government offices.

Troop summoned to oust the "petticoat government" threatened to open fire on the invaders, a caution which went unheeded. The soldiers withdrew to prevent bloodshed.

The state government, informed of the seige, sent Juan B. Gomez to investigate. He reported enemies of the local Atzancan government had circulated reports of the impending search together with information that any person possessing an image would be arrested.

The march on the city hall followed. Officials left their desks as the women moved in and broadcast an alarm to the garrison.

The women were also reported to have complained against socialistic educational programs.

ITALY IGNORES BOYCOTT WITH NEW ADVANCES

Mussolini Pledges Victory As Nation Hails Army's 17-Year-Old Success

PEACE EFFORTS FAIL

League Members Seek to Ban More Key Products From Shipment to Rome

Defiant of the alliance of sanctions against him and with peace negotiations deadlocked, Mussolini pledge victory in Ethiopia for Italy today.

As his Fascist legions, 130,000 strong, renewed their offensive against Makale on the northern Aduwa-Adigrat front in East Africa, Il Duce led his nation in a celebration of the triumphant armistice with Austria-Hungary of 17 years ago.

To the thousands who surged about his Palazzo Venezia, the dictator shouted.

"The Italian army 17 years ago today won victory, not only for itself, but for everybody.

"Today, the nation is engaged in another battle. But the Italian people are invincible, united and irrevocably determined.

"Once again, Italy will have as her prize, victory."

The Italian advance on Makale, a mountain-pass caravan center strategetically placed as a gateway to the interior, was without resistance.

March On 100-Mile Front

The Roman legions, reinforced by native troops, were marching forward on a 100-mile front, from the religious center of Aksum on the west to Adigrat on the east.

Driving south from Adigrat, the central column of the army reached Hauzien, halfway to Makale. Scouting patrols had entered Hauzien several days ago.

To the west were the columns proceeding from Aduwa and Aksum. To the east was a force of Danakil warriors, fighting under the Italian flag.

Most of the Danakils are under Ethiopian commanders on the Eastern front about Mount Mussa Ali

Ahead of the columns soared bombing planes on scouting flights. They bombarded small concentrations of Ethiopians gathering in the mountains behind Makale.

The columns out of Aksum and Aduwa, however, were proceeding slowly, keeping a close watch for Seyoum's forces.

Progress Slowly

Purposely, the Italians were making slow progress. To the rear, engineers built roads, hastening to keep apace with the invaders. The commanders ordered a consolidation of position constantly. It is apparent the Fascisti expect to occupy and develop the territory seized in the advance.

Ras Haile Selassie Gugsa, former son-in-law of Emperor Selassie, who deserted to the Italians with many followers, marched with the black-shirted Fascisti under Gen. Ruggiero Santini. Ras Gugsa said he wanted to be first to enter his old provincial capital of Makale.

The Ethiopians had their own celebration. It was the fifth anniversary of Haile Selassie's coronation.

Confident of keeping his empire independent of Fascist Rome, the Emperor said:

"Thus far the Italians have encountered only scattered detachments of our troops, who have shown traditional bravery.

New Demonstrations Staged

"Although the Italians have been attacking a month, our army is still quite intact. Their deathless devotion shall triumph before the God of Justice."

Sentiment against the British, feverish throughout Italy, broke into a new demonstration in Milan. Students rioted about stores where British goods were on display.

The students, shouting praise of Austria—which, with Hungary, has refrained from joining in the sanctions campaign against Italy—cried out:

"Viva Vienna, our friend and enemy of sanctions."

In Geneva, officials of the League of Nations felt Italy would feel the throttling effects of the economic sanctions by the first of the year.

Spurred by the activity of Canada and other nations, the sub-committee of the League on sanctions approved a strengthening of the campaign by adding more key products.

Creates New Problem

The action of the sub-committee created a new problem in the relationship of the League sanctions nations with such non-members as the United States.

If the general sanctions staffs adds coal, steel, petroleum and iron to the list of key products, officials of the League would probably sound out the United States and Germany to learn if these nations, likewise, would refrain from shipping such products to Italy.

PERSONAL TAXES TOTAL $163,359

County Collection Reaches 94.5 Percent, Treasurer G. S. Boice Reports

Special To The Review.

LISBON, O., Nov. 4.—Columbiana county collected $163,359.76 in tangible and intangible classified taxes on a $172,836.52 duplicate this year, Treasurer George S. Boice announced today.

A record was set by a 94.5 percent collection.

Schools and libraries will receive $20,175.69 collected as classified levies during the last half-year.

General personal taxes collected totaled $60,553.07, to be distributed on the same basis as taxes on real estate. The total for tangible and intangible for the last half term was $80,728.76.

For the first half year $17,053.17 was collected on intangibles and $65,557.83 on general, or a total of $82,631.

The duplicate shows $116,060.81 intangible and $56,775.71 classified charges.

The collection was only $9,476.76 under the charges.

The report indicated an upward trend in business, county officials said.

NO AUTO FATALITIES IN DISTRICT SUNDAY

Death Takes a Holiday Here Over The Week-End

The auto death crash took a holiday in the East Liverpool district over the week-end after 28 lives had been exacted in 10 months, but Ohio listed at least seven traffic fatalities.

A pottery worker, William Nelson, 26, of Beloit, died in the Mercy Hospital at Canton Saturday night from injuries received when his automobile struck a truck on U. S. route 30 near the eastern limits of Minerva. Sherman Unkefer, driver of the truck, was not injured.

Automobile deaths Sunday included Mrs. Anna Andes, 70, and her daughter, Anna, 40, who were killed at a crossing near Marion, when a freight train wrecked a motorcar in which they were riding.

Other fatalities were: John Bowdel, 20, at Mansfield; Mrs. Nellie Marsh at Cincinnati; John Hirons, 40, of Everett, in Akron; Robert Hawkins, 32, in Youngstown.

Investigations were under way today into an accident Saturday near Toledo in which 37 persons were injured, eight seriously, when a Lake Shore electric interburan struck an auto and overturned.

Officials of the railway company and sheriff D. L. Cullenen of Ottawa county awaited a chance to question George Smith, 25, of Toledo, driver of the auto, who is suffering from a possible skull fracture.

'MISTAKE' OVER STATE LIQUOR ORDER SETTLED

National Distillers Corp. Advertising Back in Ohio Papers After Dispute

MILLER DENIAL MADE

Misquoted, Director Reveals In Statement; All Will Share in Business

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4—Liquor advertising of the National Distillers Corp., returned to the columns of three Ohio newspapers today, climaxing a week-end of closely guarded statements by members of the Davey administration.

The National Distillers said "a misunderstanding (had been) cleared up" and led to its decision to continue to advertise in Ohio newspapers. A representative of the company said Saturday advertising in 31 newspapers amounting to $50,000 a month had been withdrawn.

James W. Miller, director of the state liquor department, in his first utterance on the controversy that raged about his head asserted an agent of the National Distillers Corp. "very gravely misquoted me."

Resumes Criticism

Miller in a formal statment said: "He said I told him his company would get no business if they advertised in the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers. This is most decidedly not a statement of fact."

Miller resumed former criticism of the Scripps-Howard policy in regard to the state liquor department.

"I am running this department honestly and efficiently and am running it without interference from any source," he said. "Certainly I resent the effort to besmirch my good name."

The director reiterated a charge both he and Gov. Davey have made against the Scripps-Howard newspapers, that their criticism of the liquor department and their assertions that the department had discriminated in the purchase of liquor was actuated by a desire for "bigger and bigger advertising revenues from the liquor interests."

Miller concluded his statement: "All responsible distillers will get a fair share of the state business, our whole policy has been built on this basis."

Statement Brief.

The National Distillers Corp. did not amplify its brief statement issued in New York: "The National Distillers Products Corp., has resumed all Ohio advertising which was withdrawn a few days ago, due to a misunderstanding since cleared up."

Neither Miller nor Gov. Davey was available immediately for comment on the action of the distillery in resuming its advertising.

An authority on constitutional law said today that if Miller requested the National Distillers to withdraw its advertising from "a certain group of newspapers," he abused his discretion.

"Any action of the director to influence a company in its decisions on where to advertise or not to advertise," the authority said, "would be an abuse of discretion.

"Such action is outside his power. He has only the authority to buy or not to buy. He should be governed alone by cost, quality, and markets. He is an administrator, solely concerned with economic factors. The advertising of distillers is none of his business."

STABILIZATION MOVE UNDER WAY IN CHINA

Decree Nationalizing Silver Puts Ban on Hoarded White Metal

By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 4.—The Chinese government began to gather in hoarded silver today under the terms of a new financial decree nationalizing the white metal.

The order, announced yesterday by Finance Minister H. H. Kung, also provides for restriction of bank note issues, stabilization of the Chinese dollar and legalization of legal tender to replace silver coin.

DEMOCRATS WORRIED OVER KENTUCKY FIGHT

JUDGE KING SWOPE — A. B. CHANDLER

Their Election Scrap Arouses Fears of National Leaders

Breach Widens in Intra-Party Quarrel Bringing Danger To Presidential Campaign—New Dealers Watch For Trend in Five Other States on Tuesday

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—With national Democratic leaders showing concern over the intra-party quarreling that marks the Kentucky gubernatorial race, voters in six states will make their choices tomorrow in elections that will receive the closest scrutiny for possible 1936 indications.

Two congressional contests in New York City also will be watched with interest, as will the intense scrap for the Philadelphia mayoralty and the struggle over control of the assembly of President Roosevelt's home state of New York.

Heavy registrations for off-year balloting were recorded in New York and Pennsylvania, which next year may hold the key to the White House.

No matter who wins the governorship fight in Kentucky between Lieut. Gov. A. B. Chandler, Democrat, and Judge King Swope, Republican, Democratic leaders fear party wounds will result that may prove difficult to heal by the time that border state casts its presidential vote next November.

Governor Supports G. O. P.

Democratic Gov. Ruby Laffoon is supporting Swope, contending Chandler "betrayed" the Laffon administration, Laffoon, of Kentucky colonel fame, said he would vote for the rest of the Democratic ticket—the state also will elect state officers and members of the legislature—but Republicans hope to ride through the factional breach to victory.

Democrats expect to win the two contests to fill vancancies in the New York congressional delegation, but students of politics will watch to see how the tally of votes compares with previous Democratic pluralities in the two districts.

Republicans See Control

The other New York City congressional contest is for the seat of the late Rep. Anthony J. Griffin, which has been vacant since last January. Griffin's plurality in 1934 was 19,373 compared with almost 30,000 two years earlier.

Close to 5,000,000 persons are registered for the Empire state elections. In a statement published today, Republican State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton predicted his party would win control of the assembly by at least 10 seats and said the election will be "the most severe set-back for Roosevelt re-election hopes received thus far."

Democrats have stressed local issues, though Postmaster General Farley predicted that the vote would "reflect the satisfaction of the people that complete prosperity is nearly here."

A total of 150 seats is at stake in the assembly balloting. The Democrats now control the assembly by a margin of four votes.

The Philadelphia mayoral joust is between John B. Kelly, who is trying to be the city's first Democratic mayor in over 40 years, and S. Davis Wilson, city controller, a Republican.

BOMB FIEND TRAPPED IN GARAGE EXPLOSION

Milwaukee Reign of Terror Ends; Child Victim

By The Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4. — Two lives, his own and that of a nine-year-old girl, were sacrificed in Milwaukee's eight-day reign of bomb terror, which the authorities declared was at an end today.

The dynamite "fiend," Hugh Frank Rutkowski, 21, was blown to bits while tinkering in a garage with what police said was a crude time bomb

The blast also killed Patricia Mlymarek and inflicted serious injuries upon her mother and brother. Ten others were hurt less dangerously.

Chief of Police J. G. Laubenheimer described the bomber as "an extreme low type of individual with a warped, criminal mind," motivated by a "craze for vengeance."

Rutkowski's police record began June 1, 1931. It ended yesterday with a terrific explosion on the South Side that was heard seven miles away

The steel garage in which Rutkowski tinkered, was levelled, an automobile was reduced to bits and the roof of the building blown several hundred feet away.

Water and gas mains deep underground were cracked by the force of the explosion which shattered windows in the nearby St. Vincent de Paul Catholic church tower.

The damage was estimated at $75,000.

MEAT PRICES DECLINE

Seasonal Increases in Marketing Results in Market Dip

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Wholesale meat prices are coming down, the Institute of American Meat Packers reported today.

The decline in fresh pork loins totaled 30 to 35 percent in the last four weeks. Lamb was down 10 percent, veal seven percent, and beef somewhat lower. William Whitfield Woods, institute president, said.

Woods attributed the falling prices "in part" to "the seasonal increase in marketings of livestock during October."

STEEL PRICE BOOST HELP TO BUSINESS

Output Increase Expected; Pay Raise Likely

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—The Magazine Steel foresees a quickened industrial tempo, higher prices for steel products and probable wage increase for workers in its weekly trade survey released today.

Steelworks operations last week increased two points to 54.5 percent.

Prices of finished and semi-finished steel will advance $1 to $2 a ton, following a general $1 per ton pig iron advance, the magazine said, but consumers will doubtless be given an opportunity to cover forward requirements before the rise is made effective.

"With contemplated revisions," the magazine said, "the entire iron and steel price structure will be on a higher basis." Recent increases in coal, coke and fluorspar prices are cited.

"Automobile manufacturers stepped production to 77,000 units from 62,000 the preceding week." Steel said, causing strengthening of sheet mill operations and raising the general sheet mill average to 70 percent.

Better tin plate orders, attributed to beer can demand, are noted as are larger inquiries for steel for public works projects.

Ore movements for the season probably will be 28,000,000 tons, Steel predicts, this amount being less than consumption but a 27 percent gain over 1934. Mine and furnace stocks are being reduced preparatory to a 1936 expansion, Steel asserts. Today is set as the end of the Lake Superior shipping season by United States Steel Corp. boats, with others continuing until Nov. 20.

The October average of steelworks operations was 52.2 percent, equal to last February.

In the Chicago district operations were up one point to 55; Wheeling 6 to 84; Cleveland 2 to 72; Buffalo 2 to 42; eastern Pennsylvania one-half to 38.5; New England 2 to 70; Detroit 6 to 94; Youngstown 3 to 63; Pittsburgh unchanged at 47; and Birmingham unchanged at 58.5.

The iron and steel price composite for the week rose 13 cents to $32.98; finished steel was unchanged at $53.70; and scrap at $12.67.

Board Members and Leaders of Rival Parties Predict 7,000 Poll Here

319 ABSENTEE VOTERS

Mayoral Race and Interest In School Propositions to Increase Count

East Liverpool today awaited Tuesday's battle of ballots to determine municipal, township and board of education officials and the fate of three special school propositions.

Columbiana county ballot supervisors and Republican and Democratic leaders forecast 26,000 votes in the 110 precincts, with a record poll of 7,000 or more in East Liverpool's 25 zones.

Scores Disfranchise Themselves

Despite deletions by death, removals, failure to transfer or neglect in enrolling, the Ceramic City listed about 8,800 qualified electors. Scores of others will be denied the suffrage privilege because of self-disfranchisement through non-compliance with the election laws.

Clerk J. W. Moore said the election machinery was in readiness. Precinct supplies for the northern part of the county were distributed at Lisbon, Saturday, while the distribution in the southern zones will be made at city hall here and the C. N. Brannan drug store, Wellsville, at 7 tonight.

One hundred and 10 presiding judges were given final instructions today, with ballot supervisors stressing the law regarding challengers and inspectors who will not be permitted to assist or interrupt the count except in the event of irregularities.

319 Absent Voters Get Ballots

Three hundred and nineteen ballots have been issued under absent voters' law. Wellsville led the subdivisions with a total of 124, while about 100 East Liverpool electors took advantage of the privilege. East Palestine, Salem and other subdivisions, with Wayne setting the township pace, absorbed the rest of the total.

Absentee ballots, including those issued to disabled voters who present physician's certificate, must be returned to election board members not later than noon Tuesday in order to be counted. The ballots will be distributed to the precinct judges early Tuesday afternoon, to be dropped into the boxes and counted with those cast by visitors to the polls.

G. O. P. and Democratic leaders expressed optimism regarding the outlook in East Liverpool, where the mayoralty race between O. Earl Greenawalt, Republican incumbent, seeking a second term, and Olen H. Dawson, Democrat, now city treasurer, occupies the spotlight.

Leaders Predict Victory

Ben L. Bennett, county Republican chairman, predicted a victory for the entire G. O. P. ticket here.

C. V. Beatty, Democratic leader, also forecast success for his party's slate here.

Election officials said the mayoralty race, combined with an eight-man fight for three board of education places and a 17-cornered contest for three Liverpool township trustee posts, and interest in school proposals would attract many former stay-at-home voters to the polls.

The school district, which includes Liverpool township and the Southwest precinct of St. Clair township, will pass judgment upon renewal of a three-mill tax levy for operating expenses and two bond issues, $22,000 for an elementary building at Glenmoor and $154,000 for a high school in East End, both PWA projects.

5 CHESTER MEN FINED ON GAMBLING CHARGES

Two Others Await Hearing After State Police Make Raids

West Virginia state troopers, assisted by Chief of Police Floyd Lyons, arrested five men on gambling charges in a raid on the Cook beer parlor in Chester, Saturday night.

Arraigned before Mayor Joel B. Taylor, the prisoners gave the names of John Mack, Carl Manley, Ralph Glenn, John Boso, Stanley Cebula and Joseph Zarkun. They were fined $10 and costs.

The raiders also visited the lunch room of Thayer McDaniels in Third street and the Claude Martin restaurant in the Lincoln highway, outside Chester. The owners were ordered to appear before Justice of the Peace R. R. Hobbs Tuesday at 2:30 to answer charges of operating a gaming device.

Mrs. Goodrich May be Freed

DETROIT, Nov. 4— Release of Mrs. Florence Harding Goodrich appeared in prospect today as Recorder's Judge Henry S. Sweeney reiterated his assertion that there is no law permitting the state to try her as an accessory after the fact in the murder of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher. The court gave the prosecution until mid-afternoon to find legal precedent to justify the charge on which Mrs. Goodrich has been held for four months.

CARNEGIE-STEEL FIRM OVERHAULS RIVER TOWBOATS

Repairs Are Ordered Made To Entire Fleet Used In Trade on Ohio

CARGOES ON INCREASE

Tin Plate, Pipe, Iron Ingot And Coal Shipments Go To Southern Ports

Preparing for a busy season on the Ohio river, the Carnegie Steel Corp. today ordered a complete overhauling of its entire fleet, one of the largest on western waters.

Extensive repairs will be started at an early date on the towboat Homestead. The plans call for the installation of a new battery of boilers and widening of the hull to conform with specifications of the United States bureau of navigation and steamboat service.

Steel Industry Activity Seen

Indicative of a boom in the steel industry, the Duquesne and the William Wiggen passed here over the week-end with large tows for southern delivery. The Duquesne, enroute to Memphis, was transporting 700 tons of steel, 700 tons of tin plate, 700 tons of pipe, 200 tons or iron ingots and two barges of coal. The Wiggin's tow included 2,400 tons of tin plate and 1,200 tons of pipe.

As another move to press all available boats into service, plans were made today for raising the steamer W. C. Kelly of the American Barge line, which sunk in the Cumberland river recently while being loaded with tobacco. An Ohio river boat, the salvage work will be in charge of G. J. Wandrisco, of the Western Rivers Salvage Co., Pittsburgh.

The towboat Coal City is towing coal to Midland, Pa. The Champion Coal and LaBelle are moving the commodity to East Liverpool, Weirton and other valley cities.

Capt. W. C. Sanson, master and pilot, has installed specially constructed barge connectors on a fleet of 40 steel flats which are under construction near Pittsburgh for service on the river.

Montgomery Crew Furloughed

Nearing completion of the project, one of three shifts previously maintained on the Montgomery island dam construction project in the Ohio river near Midland, Pa., has been laid off. It is expected to complete the job by the end of the year, engineers announced.

Major W. D. Styer, former head of the Pittsburgh district on the river, which includes East Liverpool, will sail for Panama Dec. 28 to assume new duties as assistant engineer of maintenance.

The Cincinnati Reds were the first baseball club to wear the present style of baseball uniform with short pants.

AUTO CLUB ASKS STEPS TO CHECK OHIO POLLUTION

Transfer Of Federal Funds From Proposed Potomac Project Urged

RESOLUTION IS VOTED

Motorists Point Out Hazard In Swimming In Valley Stream Of Beauty

The Columbiana County Motor club today joined forces with the Ohio Valley Improvement association in urging allocation of federal funds for the elimination of stream pollution in the Ohio river.

The club's action protested the selection of the Potomac river for the first pollution tests, pointing out the need of the Ohio valley program, Albert I. McLean, president, and Albert P. Morris, secretary.

Resolutions Urges Cities Act

A resolution, asking cooperation of municipal officials and civic organizations, has been adopted, as follows:

"Whereas, a federal aid grant for the purpose of study and elimination of stream pollution has been proposed for use in the Potomac River, and

"Whereas, the Potomac river is a coast stream without industry or sewage, and

"Whereas, the Potomac river is sadly in need of the elimination of stream pollution from its very source to its mouth, and

"Whereas, thousands of motorists are deprived of the natural enjoyment of this scenic river because of the hazards of swimming, drinking, etc., and whereas, the Columbiana County Motor Club represents thousands of automobile owners in the Ohio Valley and tourists,

Protests Potomac Selection

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Columbiana County Motor club protest the selection of the Potomac river for the stream pollution experiment and respectively suggest that the Ohio River be submitted and that the Federal Authorities be requested to eliminate stream pollution in the Ohio river.

Nation-Wide Campaign For Funds to Perpetuate Memory of Famed American Humorist Starts Today

Commemorating the 56th birthday anniversary of America's homespun humorist, who met his death recently with Wiley Post in an airplane crash near Point Barrow, Alaska, the Will Rogers' memorial commission today launched a nation-wide campaign for funds to perpetuate his memory.

Continuing until Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 27, money will be collected and turned over to the commission, which then will decide upon the form and location of the memorials, with the aid of public suggestions. The national committee will be governed largely by the amount raised.

Cooperating with the memorial commission, the East Liverpool Review and financial institutions here will accept contributions and forward them to the campaign headquarters. The First National Bank, Potters Bank and Trust Co., The Potters Savings and Loan Co., The Federal Building and Loan Co. and the Union Savings and Loan Co. have signified a willingness to handle the district funds.

Will Rogers left millions of friends who felt they knew him intimately through his stage, radio, motion picture and newspaper work. Thousands of these friends activeiy proposed memorials, and no less than a score of organizations were formed for the purpose. These groups were merged and the Will Rogers memorial commission formed, with a group of his nationally prominent friends heading the list.

Now with all local and sectional efforts directed into one wholehearted national plan, his many friends will be given an opportunity to participate in a worthy contribution to the beloved humorist. Mr. Rogers, who was kind-hearted and sympathetic, a man of the people, in life, must be recalled in memory as he lived, and no cold marble shaft will be his but rather a living perpetual memorial depicting the charitable, educational and humanitarian traits.

The commission is composed of Owen D. Young, John N. Garner, Dr. J. C. Bushyhead, Amon G. Carter, Harry Chandler, James M. Cox, Charles Curtis, John W. Davis, Charles G. Dawes, Herbert Fleischacker, Henry Ford, Will H. Hayes, Herbert C. Hoover, Patrick J. Hurley, Jesse H. Jones, Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, E. W. Marland, Frank F. Merriam, Alfred E. Smith, Fred Stone, George Young and other men of prestige and judgment.

East Palestine

Mr. and Mrs. John Custer are celebrating their 55th wedding anniversary at their home here today. Mrs. Custer was 84 years of age on July 3. Mr. Custer, one of the three surviving members of the G. A. R. here, having marked his 88th birthday in March. Both are enjoying exceptionally good health.

Members of the Women's Relief corps met in Memorial Hall Friday night when a resolution was adopted protesting the proposed use of the soldiers' and sailors' home at Sandusky for an insane institution. The department inspector will attend the meeting of the corps on Nov. 15. Members of organizations meeting in the hall are asked to assist in a house-cleaning of the building on Wednesday.

Young people of the Christian church were in charge of the Sunday night service. The Dramatic Guild from the Columbiana County Christian Endeavor Flying Squadron presented a series of Christian Action spirituals.

Charles W. Peters of the Agricultural Extension Department of Ohio State University will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Tuesday at 6:30 p. m., in the Memorial hall. Ladies Night will be featured. F. E. Owens is the sponsor of the meeting.

The Westminister Guild Circle of the Presbyterian church will meet tonight in the home of Miss Marjorie Spaulding. Miss Lorna Chaplow will be the associate hostess.

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church will meet tonight in the home of Mrs. W. B. Boies.

A special meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary unit to George McBane Post No. 31, The American Legion, will be held in the Legion hall tonight at 7:30.

Mrs. J. C. Kelly will be hostess to the Berean club tonight.

A number of young people from the Presbyterian church, accompanied by William Kelly, attended a Presbyterian Christian Endeavor conference in Niles, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Katherine Hart of Washington, Pa., and Frank George of Cannonsburg, Pa., were married Thursday. Mr. George is the son of the late W. S. George and has been manager of the George plant in Cannonsburg, Pa. The young couple will make their home in East Palestine, the bridegroom having been appointed general superintendent of the two George plants here, succeeding Locke Anderson, who recently was named to the Edwin M. Knowles Pottery in Newell, and who will remove to East Liverpool.

Miss Velva Dornon has gone to Youngstown where she has secured a position while attending night school.

Joseph Donlon and Richard Pierce of the University of Detroit; Howard Wilhelm and Paul Merwin students at Ohio Wesleyan University and W. Woodward Dunlap of the Kent State College spent the week-end at their homes here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Skinner spent the week-end with their daughter Lenore, a Senior at Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aldrich and children left Friday for Pittsburg where they will make their future home.

Miss Mary Doolin spent the week end with her sister Mrs. Frank Quilter at Louisville.

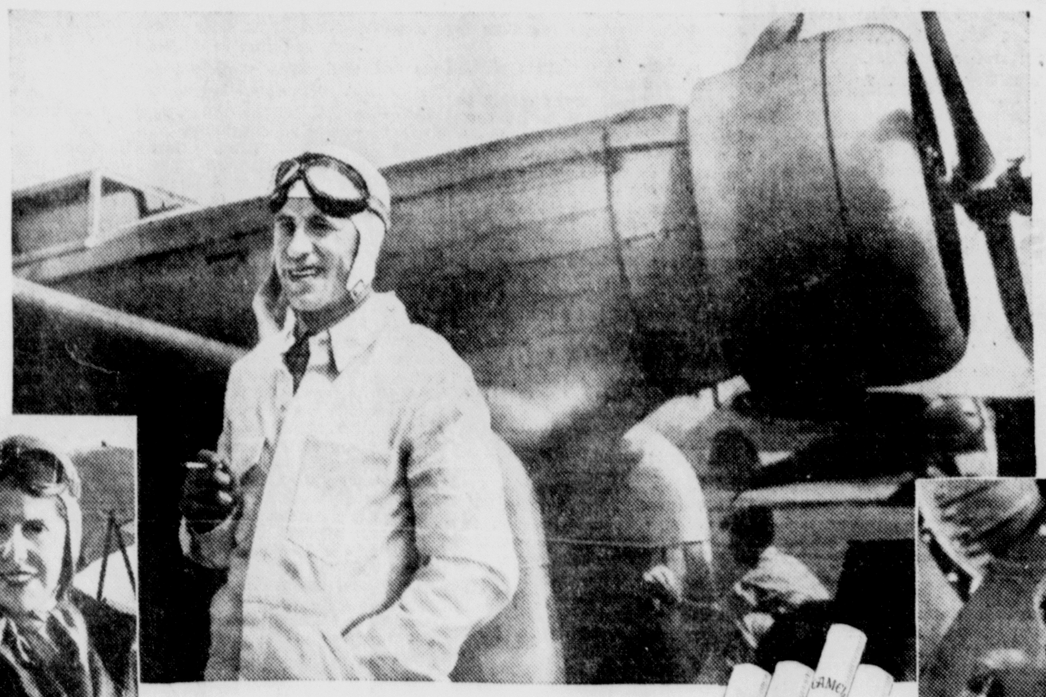
WHAT THE MILDNESS OF CAMELS MEANS TO FAMOUS AVIATORS

©1935, R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.

Lieutenant Commander Frank Hawks, U.S.N.R., famous holder of 214 speed records and the Harmon Trophy, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels almost as long. Making speed records tests the pilot as well as his plane. Camels never make me jumpy or bother my physical 'condition' in any way. As the athletes say, Camels are so mild they don't get the wind. And I've found they never upset my nerves. Camel must use choicer tobaccos."

"Camels don't get your Wind" Athletes say



"I smoke Camels all I want," says Col. Roscoe Turner (below), 'cross-continent speed ace. "Because of their mildness, Camels never tire my taste. A speed flyer uses up energy just as his motor uses 'gas.' After smoking a Camel, I get a 'refill' in energy."

"Get a Lift with a Camel"

"Speaking of cigarettes, I make it a rule to smoke Camels," says Mrs. T. W. Kenyon, sportswoman pilot. "They are the mildest cigarette I know. Morning, noon, and night, I can smoke Camels steadily. They never upset my nerves. And each Camel renews the zest and enjoyment of the last one!"

"They Never Get on Your Nerves"

"I appreciate the mellow flavor of Camels," says Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the transpacific flyer, in a recent interview. "Camels refresh me so when I'm fatigued," he continues, "and they are so mild that I can smoke any number without throwing my nerves off key."

LOVE OF MASTER URGED AS MEANS OF WORLD PEACE

N. Oswald, J. Makin Warns Recognition of God is Need of Nation

FILLS PULPIT SUNDAY

Australian, Visiting Here, Speaks at Presbyterian Church Services

Recognition of God in affairs of mankind, thus ending suspicions of nations, is necessary for world peace, Norman Oswald John Makin, member and former speaker of the Australian parliament, visiting relatives here, told listeners at services Sunday morning in the First Presbyterian church.

A lay minister of the Methodist church, he discussed "International Friendship" after he was presented by the pastor, Rev J. H. Lawther.

Goodwill is Conveyed

He conveyed the goodwill of churchmen of his own country to America, and then dwelt upon the uncertainty of world affairs.

"There is no balance anywhere despite divine gifts bestowed upon the earth," he said. "This condition claims our immediate attention.

"Men and women appear to acknowledge God, but they unfortunately failed to remember that such acknowledgement must be demonstrated in terms of practical service to mankind.

"Everywhere I have traveled I have been struck with the individual friendship and kindness shown me. Nowhere have I met with an ungracious act. Extreme courtesy has prevailed in my individual relationships which officially may not have been the same.

"This has led me to conjecture why this individual friendship and goodwill can not be experienced between nations, so that international goodwill may obtain, thus insuring a more hopeful outlook in the bewilderment of the world.

Building Up Material Things

"We have been building upon material things in recent years. The reaction is upon us. Thus the depression, national crises and the condition of disability have been universally shared. Security and prosperity have failed us at the vital moment. We have failed in our relationship to God. We have impoverished ourselves in the greater gifts so that a period of uncertainty has come in our international relationships.

"Man's plans have gone astray. We should try another way. God's plan. If we expect security instead of bewilderment we must again walk with God. Men of all nations must be included in a universal condition of brotherhood for, as St. Paul indicated, 'every member of the body is a part of it.' God's love must reign in human hearts if the world is to be purified and rehabilitation ensue.

"The service of men must be united with the spirit of God so that the marvelous dynamic power of righteousness shall encompass all the nations of the earth."

Rev. L. J. Davison Urges Need of Grace

Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor, urged the need for Christians to grow in grace in a sermon Sunday morning at the First United Presbyterian church, where Miss Janie Bradford of Washington, Pa. recently concluded an evangelistic campaign.

"A Christian does not remain in a static condition but grows spiritually as the human body develops," he pointed out. "The physical side of man is normal only when it trends towards the highest possibilities of its growing and developing capacity. "It is requisite for the growth of the human body that it has light. Permitted to be in darkness for the most part there would be a stunting in its development. Similarly, to grow spiritually the young Christian must have light. And this light comes basically from the word of God. Knowledge of the Scriptures thus conduces to spiritual growth.

"As human bodies require heat to remain healthy and grow, so must there come to new Christians the warmth of spiritual contact with God through His Son, Christ Jesus, in prayer and meditation."

Rev. Shadduck Assails Night Life in County

Stressing temptations which increase the possibility of ruin of youth, Rev. B. H. Shadduck, pastor of the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, discussed "Night Life in Columbiana County," Sunday night.

"Is it good logic to spend great sums of money on the education of our boys and girls in order to fit them for the best in citizenship and then permit the operation of institutions which may later contribute to the wrecking of their lives?" he inquired.

"With all of our splendid school system it well may be that we have neglected the education of our children by not having them visit jails, penitentiaries, insane asylums and police courts, in order that they may see the results of yielding to temptations."

"Why is our Sabbath being so generally desecrated and our laws violated? Many places, contributing to the temptations of youth, could be curbed, if sentiment, from knowledge of that occuring in them, were developed.

"There are now about 80 places in which intoxicants can be procured in East Liverpool. There were about 40 in days of the saloon, and there was a time everywhere for closing such places. No women were served drinks and minors were not permitted to buy.

"What improvements could be brought about if Christians would do their duty in the face of conditions."

500 Answer Roll Call At Church of Christ

More than 500 responded to the roll call of members ot the First Church of Christ Sunday, while other names listed showed 1,200 persons affiliated.

The roll was called by A. M. Fisher, of Newell, clerk of the congregation, after the pastor, Rev. D. Park Chapman, read the charter of the church which was dated Jan. 3, 1889. The charter was signed by the late Stockdale Jackman, Thomas Lloyd, William H. Vodrey and H. H. Dixon and John S. Scott. The latter left for his winter home in Texas last week.

The charter indicated that the church was to be known as The Church of Christ in East Liverpool; that it, under the laws of Ohio, was not to be operated for profit; that it was to be a place of worship for those commonly known as the Disciples of Christ and that it was to follow the teachings of the Holy Scriptures in the development of Christian relationships.

At night, Rev. Chapman discussed "Christian Fruitfulness," stressing the necessity of Christians bearing spiritual fruit by living in conformity to the ideals of Christ."

25 Respond to Altar Call For Nazarenes

Making a total of 75 since the campaign opened, 25 persons responded to the altar call after Rev. Mack Anderson, Kansas City, Mo., evangelist, spoke upon "True and False Prosperity" Sunday night.

The evangelist will discuss "The Peril of Resisting God" tonight, when Rev. and Mrs. A. S. London of Wichita, Kas., who previously held evangelistic services in the church, will attend.

Barnard Hilman of Nashville, Tenn., assisted by the church quartet, sang preceding Rev. Anderson's discourse.

"There is a so-called false prosperity that is measured in terms of material prosperity," said Rev. Anderson. "It is held by some to be the acquirement of education and by others it is that obtained by continuous pleasure.

"But true prosperity for men and women consists in the spiritual acquirement which enables them to live along the lines of righteousness and die having the hope of qualifying for eternal life."

In the morning the Rev. Mr. Anderson preached upon "The Old Paths."

Hunters Offered Sure Kills

PUEBLO, Col.—Modern business methods were injected into big game hunting this year. A man from the mountains came to the city and made hunters a proposition. For $7.50 he would produce a deer, all properly shot and ticketed. For $12.50 he would deliver an elk. The "hunters" would find their "kill" all laid out for them at a designated place on the highway.

I am a man, and nothing in man's lot can be indifferent to me. —Terence.

The Way Of Peace

It is a grim paradox that the way of peace being followed by the League of Nations in the Ethiopian case is the way of war. No one doubts that if the League uses military force to prevent Italy from waging war against Ethiopia the result will be war. Yet, the League is nominally the guardian of peace.

Relatively little thought has been given to the way of peace from a thoroughly pragmatic viewpoint. The report that Pope Pius favors granting Italy a mandate over Ethiopia as the only effective means of avoiding a catastrophic European war shows, however, that a practical solution is being considered. It is not new, of course. Its nature, however, has kept it in the background.

Would European diplomats deny that a mandate over Ethiopia could prevent war? Do they have a better method in mind? The answer to both questions seems to be that the only solution of the problem is the long run will be a mandate, and the diplomates know it. The sanctions which the League of Nations is prepared to apply represent a means of preserving the League of Nations, not a means of preventing Italy from going ahead with its campaign in Ethiopia.

Pope Pius, perhaps, speaking with the clear mind of a man above the complexities of diplomacy, has penetrated to the heart of the issue. Italy cannot be made to undo what it has done. Apparently, it cannot be prevented in the near future from continuing to do what it is doing. Therefore, it is necessary to adjust the rules to the facts, or meet the danger of a complete overthrow of the rules. It is interesting to observe that the practical suggestion has come from the source of moral interpretation, while the idealism has been voiced by practical statesmen. Apparently, their bluff is being called gently, but no less positively because of the gentility. Pope Pius has driven directly through pretense to the fact. What he has proposed will be spurned, but the fact behind the proposal will remain unmoved and unmovable.

Sparks

President Roosevelt's administrative circle contains few persons, according to most observers, who will be valuable on the stump during the next 12 months. It is apparent the President, himself, will have to do most of the important campaign talking.

Yet, in Secretary Ickes and Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Roosevelt has two men with a positive gift of invection. Mr. Hopkins, especially, is possessor of a sharp tongue. The demonstration he gave of his prowess at the expense of Governors Landon of Kansas and Talmadge of Georgia, with Gen. Johnson thrown in as an added attraction proved something.

It proved, for instance, that the new dealers do not intend to sit passively and take criticism with a smile. It proved, also, that the criticism must be painful. Important men in the government don't waste their time in idle fighting for the fun of it. They fight to defend themselves.

It proved that the new deal will not hesitate to appeal for support on the basis of its spendthrift generosity. Mr. Hopkins scorns Gov. Landon because that cautious executive watched pennies, in contrast to the Hopkins method, which is to get rid of as many pennies as possible in the shortest possible time. It seems a good guess Gov. Landon didn't cringe under the charge of tight fisted administration. That happens to be his most attractive characteristic.

As to the propriety of either Secretary Ickes or Mr. Hopkins resorting to abusive language to discredit the Roosevelt administration's opponents, that seems to be a matter of good or bad taste. Further bursts from the two new deal spokesmen will be awaited with interest. Apparently both gentlemen are hot enough to throw off sparks, and fireworks never fail to get attention. They don't mean anything, but they're entertaining.

The Stalking Horse

Selection of Rep. Chester C. Bolton, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, as Ohio's stalking horse in the Republican national convention seems a sign that behind the harmony which strikes the public ear are discords barely concealed by sweet sounds.

Rep. Bolton is the selection most pleasing to the faction within the Republican party which is assiduously avoiding an appearance of seeming friendly with former President Hoover. A previous plan, denied, of course, called for a stalking horse who would bolt to Mr. Hoover's corral at the first suggestion of a stampede.

Rep. Bolton is strongly opposed to Mr. Hoover. What that may mean, owing to the fact Mr. Hoover has given no evidence of an intention to be a candidate, is indeterminate, as many things must be at this stage of preparation for the big effort of 1936. Certainly Rep. Bolton and his sponsors are not strongly opposed to Mr. Hoover's ideas.

Their strategy is concerned chiefly with the mechanics of nominating a candidate. At this distance from next June it seems probable the convention will not muster a majority for any avowed candidate. It will be necessary to choose a compromise candidate, and the stalking horse candidates, including Rep. Bolton, will end their usefulness at that point by dropping out of the picture. It's an old method.

The stalking horse has an interesting part to play. Even though most of them have been in politics too long to have illusions about what they are doing, it must be a thrill, nevertheless, to be mentioned in connection with the presidency. Perhaps there is more of hope and sincerity in them than skeptics are willing to grant. After all, strange things happen when the ponderous machinery of party politics starts to move, and a stalking horse might be mistaken sometime for the real thing.

A Will Rogers Memorial

The national opportunity to contribute to a Will Rogers memorial will produce a response beyond the greatest expectations of the humorist's countless friends. They are expecting liberality. They are expecting millions of Americans to share in the tribute to a dearly loved character. Nevertheless, it doesn't seem likely they have dared to put as high an estimate on the response as it seems to deserve.

When Will Rogers was killed last summer, the country talked about nothing else for days. The accident in which the humorist and Wiley Post lost their lives was regarded as a national calamity, despite the fact it had no bearing on politics or finance. Therein lies the possibility of a response which promises to be unique in the country's history, perhaps in the world's history.

It is possible to measure the probabilities of ordinary and usual things, because they have happened before. But there never was a man just like Will Rogers, a man whom millions felt they knew intimately, though they never had seen him. He was a product of the press, of the moving pictures and of radio. He was a man who would have been held in warm affection in his local community, under any circumstances, but who was able to endear himself to a whole nation instead of a handful of neighbors.

It is foolish after so many splendid tributes to Will Rogers have been spoken and written to try to devise a new one. A committee of his friends has provided an opportunity for all who are unable to make a verbal tribute to satisfy themselves with a token for the purpose of erecting a fitting memorial to a dearly loved American. It was a happy thought, and the response will prove it so.

Earthquakes

The confidence of man in his ability to take care of himself on earth if given a fair chance is shaken by nothing more deeply than by an earthquake. Millions of persons in the United States last Thursday night were made aware without previous warning of their helplessness in the presence of a menace they neither can see nor escape.

In Montana, where the population has been terrorized frequently the last few weeks by earthquakes, frantic mothers fled outdoors with their children while buildings, weakened by previous shocks, collapsed. As far east as Baltimore, frightened citizens flooded telephone switchboards with their questions. The disturbance affected a vast area of the northern United States and Canada.

In this area, nature is usually placid, after its fashion. Compared with the insecurity of the Japanese islands, where earthquakes occur so frequently that every generation has first hand knowledge of them, or with the West Indies, where hurricanes are an annual calamity, the region has virtually nothing to fear. Yet, an earth tremor such as was felt Thursday night is a pointed reminder that the continent of North America is no more static in relation to the ages than one of the rocky islands in the Pacific, thrown up by some deep and perhaps unrecorded disturbance and obliterated by another disturbance.

However, because such things do occur, it is possible to calculate within reasonable limits how much they should be feared. There is, for instance, no reason for Ohioans to have fear, in the sense that inhabitants of truly perilous regions are afraid at such times. Man's reason is sufficient to fortify him against panic when he can be assured there is no probability of a major disaster. An earthquake shakes confidence, as it shakes the ground. It does not destroy confidence, however, because of virtual certainty that the scientists who believe there is no danger are right.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

By

GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, Nov. 5

A day of some enterprise, initiative and progress is shown by the lunar transits, but these fortuitous prospects are beset with difficult situations and discouragements. Patience, persistence and practical constructive work may win out, but loans and financial hazards should be avoided. There is prospect of a profitable change or journey if wisely manipulated.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of enterprise, initiative and some good opportunities for progress and prosperity, although these may be attended by difficulties, delays and disappointments. Industry, application and courage may offset these forebodings, but shun all manner of financial peril.

A child born on this day may be talented, original, constructive and hard working, but rather easily discouraged or depressed. It should, however, make a fair success in its enterprises if careful with its funds.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Diary: Up and mightily perked with letters from Major Bowes and Elsie Robinson and a photograph came of my wife's uncle, James Gatewood, as stalwart at 86 as most men of 50. And a hail from Frazier Hunt shoving off for Germany and so to peek in Gene Crowley's new avenue offices.

And near Saks a belligerant taxi driver, cozened out of a fare, grew so apoplectic his face turned the hideous purple of raw liver, eyes bulging and tongue lolling. A twit or so on two window cleaners were guttered in a flurry of fists, all the world seemingly in violent rage.

After dark by to look in on Arthur Roche's son Jeffrey, who has become a newspaper reporter and thinks gazetteering an exciting trade. Then to see "Jubilee" and jumped like a shot hearing my name in the lyrics of a Cole Porter song. To bed reading Max Miller's autographed trek of the Alaskan reindeers.

Those who admired—and who did not.—the once popular dance team of Dickson and Hyson were interested in the American debut of the couple's elfin daughter, Dorothy Hyson, in a recent play. The young lady was born in London where her mother, Dorothy Dickson, a Staten Island girl, has been a footlight favorite 10 years. And will be coming over in a play soon.

When Clarence Budington Kelland, the town's saltiest master of ceremony, introduced Mayor La Guardia at a Dutch Treat luncheon, he observed: "The Mayor has accomplished a great deal in eliminating unnecessary noises in New York but hasn't gotten as far as speeches by Mayors." Kelland also asked Senator La Follette and Edward G. Robinson to take bows as silently as possible. After which he added: "If I have forgotten to introduce any other celebrities, I did it on purpose."

Personal nomination for the actor, on stage or screen, to make a gusto of bluster seem most real—Lee Tracy.

The clock mania afflicts most sedentary workers — especially writers and artists. Gelett Burgess keeps several tick tocking in every room of his apartment. Pensryn Stanlaws, as I recall, used to have a circle of wall timepieces telling the exact time in many capitals of the world. David Graham Phillips kept four clocks going on his standup writing desk. O. Henry felt affluent carrying a watch in each lower vest pocket. Oliver Onion, English writer, has a watch strapped to each wrist. And Gilbert Gabriel once leased an apartment on Madison Square partly because his workroom faced the giant tower clock.

A blight has come to the innumerable pinchy foreign restaurants dotting side streets, especially the luncheon places that buzzed so with activity in the speakeasy era. The Tonys, the Gastons and the Emils. The reason for the decline is their studied insistence patrons order wines and cocktails. With business as it is, lunchers don't want the mid-afternoon slow-up that follows alcohol. That is why the hard counter luncheon places are increasing so rapidly and also flourishing.

There's a story, said not to be publicity pap, that Jascha Heifetz, has his $150,000 Stradivarius violin delivered by armoured truck at each place he appears and at a cost of $100. Once, another tale goes, he put his violin case down on the sidewalk at an entrance to Carnegie Hall to shake hands with a friend. When he reached to pick it up, it had vanished. He was caught toppling in a faint. The instrument had been carried in by his accompanist, who thought Heifetz knew.

Thingumabobs: Richard Barthelmess is a pushover for table d'hote dinners . . . . Arthur William Brown, who made and lost a million in the market, now keeps up a $4,000 a year annuity which he will get at 65 . . . The Dutch Treat Club now meets at the Ambassador . . . Maurice Maeterlinck liked to arise at 3 a. m., breakfast and work until sun-up . . . Brett Young has a dog that likes the smell of perfume.

Hill-billy hurrah via Ted Woodyard: A mountaineer and two sons went to town to sell their winter trappings—coon, possum, muskrats and a few fox skins. Each bought new overalls, shoes, a shot gun and spitting tobacco. Finally one exclaimed: "You know we ain't bought a dang thing for Maw." So they thought a moment and one cried: "I'll tell you what, let's chip in and take her an axe."

An Early Merchant

The meager notes on the chronology of Franklinton, now the west side of Columbus, carry the name of James Scott as the first to establish a store in that village and therefore the first to establish a store in what is now Columbus.

His name does not appear in the list of names of the heads of the first families to locate in Lucas Sullivant's new town when it was laid out by him in 1795. He must have been a later arrival, probably attracted by the opportunities the pioneer town offered. He established his store when Franklinton was one year old, in 1796. The trade across his counter was no doubt principally barter. The settlers traded what they could produce for coffeee, tea, salt and cloth, which they could not produce.

But this constitutes the entire history of Scott. Whether he prospered or failed or what happened to his business in those long-gone days, no one knows.

Behind the News IN WASHINGTON AND WALL STREET

By PAUL MALLON

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 4.—An inner view of President Roosevelt's Hyde Park press conferences is generally available only to the few correspondents who regularly accompany him from Washington. The conferences are small, more intimate, affording a better close-up of the man and his method of contact with the public.

Eight men and one woman comprise the public contact delegation this trip. They file into the Presidential office. It is a 12-by-10 cubby-hole about one-20th the size of his Washington workroom. The approach is direct from the driveway, preventing any view of the interior of the mansion.

President Roosevelt is seated at a small mahogany desk next to the only window, which looks out upon an uninspiring driveway entrance. Callers wonder why he did not choose a large room on the other side of the house, commanding a magnificent view of the Hudson, instead of this former servants' pantry.

* * *

Sensitivity

The President permits no such wondering. He speaks at once to the callers as they come through the door. He doubts that they were all abed when the earthquake occurred at 1 o'clock that morning. He implies also that some of them may not have been able to feel the shock at that late hour, after an evening of tap room relaxation. In similar vein, they ask if he felt it.

Mr. Roosevelt recalls it very definitely. It awakened him. He realized at once what it was. How long did it last? About 15 seconds. How did he know it was an earthquake? He remembered one as a child. Was there any noise? No, but the sidewise movement of the house permitted him to recognize it.

Behind this close reportorial cross-examination apparently was the fact that all the callers had compared experiences earlier and found that none knew there had been an earthquake, although few of them were asleep and all were within six miles of Hyde Park at the time.

* * *

Negative Days

Did the President act on that Montana earthquake request? Yes, he had sent word to the army, Red Cross and relief administration to cooperate.

What are those pictures on his desk? The 134-pound sailfish he caught on his trip. Some of them show the fish frozen in ice. (Pictures are handed around.) Gus (his bodyguard) caught one 16 pounds heavier, but it was not in very good condition. Also, Gus' catch was ruled out because he got a muscle cramp in his arm while playing it. (Laughter.) Was that a record? No, the President thinks the record catch was 36 pounds heavier than his.

Is there any news at all? No, this is a negative day. The three musketeers, a trio of newsmen who accompanied him on the Panama trip, got used to negative days and did not even try to concoct any news. (Laughter.) Is he having any visitors? (The reply was a negative shake of the head.)

He saw in the papers a suggestion that he was at Hyde Park to direct New York political strategy for Tuesday's election. (Laughter.) Who wrote that story? (All present deny it. Blame is finally attached to an unidentified headline writer, 75 miles away.)

* * *

Wonder

The woman reporter asks how the President observed Halloween. He went to bed. Does he have any plans which would make a story? Well, he is going on a family picnic after church Sunday. Anything on Europe? Not a peep has come to him from the state department since he left.

One reporter observes that the President must have had a haircut. Yes, the barber worked on him the other day. (There is some personal banter, off-the-record, about the haircut.)

A reporter says the biggest news of the day was the fact that the presidential secretary, Steve Early, lost $3 to a newspaper man playing golf. The President is astounded at such a misadventure, doubts its accuracy. Mr. Early explains that the newsman claimed a handicap of 125 strokes and then shot 21 under his handicap.

* * *

Skepticism

On the way back to town, some hard-boiled veterans among the correspondents begin to ask each other why they were insensitive to earthquakes. They decide the President must be earthquake-conscious. One threatens to let a note of doubt creep into his account. A few half suspect the President may have been fooling, that he dreamed it, or read it in the morning papers.

By JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—New Yorkers in close touch with London say that British policy in recent weeks has been guided to a surprising degree by England's interpretation of the American attitude toward war developments. British belligerence towards Mussolini in the early stages of his Ethiopian invasion was based to some extent (apart from internal political exigencies) on the belief that the United States could be induced to lend at least moral support to League sanctions against the "unspeakable" Italian aggressor. After all, we fell for that sort of thing with cheers 20 years ago. Why not again?

But this time we made it politely but painfully clear to Downing street that we were having no part of another "crusade for humanity." Insiders say that was a blow to our British cousins, but, being realistic, they knew we meant it. So they removed the chip from their shoulder and started getting conciliatory. All ideas of military sanctions or even a blockade were abandoned, not only because England is unprepared for war, but also because it was feared that transferring African hostilities to Europe would alienate American sympathies entirely. There would be no percentage to Britain in getting herself on our export blacklist for "implements of war."

Informed sources look for no material change in the international situation until after the British election on Nov. 14. They prophesy that on that date the "save-the-empire" slogan will save the Conservative party. Thereafter they expect a speedy settlement of African controversies among Britain, France and Italy (Ethiopia present, but not voting.) Italy will certainly get territory and probably credit. England will get safeguards in Egypt and the Mediterranean. Haile Selassie will get a kick in the slats from his British pal and protector if he tries to balk.

* * *

Ideal

The securities exchange commission's summons to Wall Streeter Mike Meehan to appear for a hearing on his alleged manipulation of Bellanca stock may wind up in a test of the commission's constitutionality. Mike is said to be thinking of just not showing up, on the ground that the commission lacks legal jurisdiction. That would throw the whole thing into the lap of the courts.

Wall Street opinion has been divided all along as to the advisability of forcing a legal showdown on the commission's authority. The heads of the New York stock and curb exchanges have been officially opposed to a gesture that could only be interpreted as hostile.

But plenty of conservative financial men disagree and in theory would be glad of a test. The only hitch is they would rather have someone else besides Meehan in their corner. His reputation as a speculator is no asset from the public relations standpoint. On the other hand, you hear it said that in one sense Meehan is an ideal laboratory specimen. He certainly belongs to the professional crowd whose past activities spurred the public demand for exchange regulation. "If he isn't to be regulated, who is?

* * *

Constructive

The recent Investment Bankers' association convention was a sounding board, as you might expect, for conservative pleas in favor of economy, a balanced budget and less regimentation. But it also offered couple of significant sops to the new deal ceberus.

It tossed bouquets at the securities exchange commission, which was characterized as "sincere, honest and sympathetic" in its administration of new deal measures. That was a gesture of appreciation for a miracle wrought by the commission, the miracle of convincing investment bankers that they really could carry on legitimate business under the law.

Still more surprising, the association's committee on public service securities turned in a report which, while it vigorously condemned the holding company law as unfair and destructive, went so far as to intimate that regulation of utilities might properly fall within the federal government's sphere if it were founded on fair and intelligent legislation. Insiders say this radical departure from IBA tradition traces to a gradual growth of conviction that some sort of utility control from Washington is inevitable, so the smart thing for conservatives to do is to recognize its inevitability and try to steer it into constructive channels.

* * *

Balance

Financial sharps see signs of a new treasury policy towards international currency problems. They claim that the administration evidently intends to help defend the gold bloc against depreciation of the pound sterling. We have in a sense identified our international monetary interests with those of France.

This tends to achieve our object of de facto stabilization, since forthright stabilization is out of the question at present. The pound is the one major currency now susceptible to wide fluctuations. With the British working to keep it from rising and ourselves and the French working to keep it from falling it is likely to stay pretty much in balance with other moneys.

* * *

Expansion

If the holding company act is declared invalid by the courts you can expect a record volume of new corporate financing in the months following the decision.

Many utility companies find they could increase their power output capacity to good advantage and are genuinely eager to expand. But while the court's decision is in the offing their legal status is ambiguous. They feel that investors who would now be reluctant to put their money in holding company securities will jump at the chance when these uncertainties are cleared up. So a verdict in their favor would be the signal for a flock of new issues.

* * *

Soft

There's reason to believe that many New York City racketeers are suffering from a bad case of the jitters. While the arrest of the usury sharks by Racket Investigator Dewey is the first major move he has made, insiders have noted a definite falling off in most of the important forms of chiseling, such as the fake charity racket, in recent weeks. Dewey works very silently, and the easy-money boys are unable to learn what he is looking into or where he will strike next. Consequently they're using the soft pedal.

The 1935 Auto, All Souls

NEW YORK CITY Saturday had a double celebration. The automobile exhibition, moved forward from January to November, opened at New York's Grand Central Palace.

And Saturday was "All Souls' Day."

See the new automobiles, necessary to comfort, happiness, safety and to health, especially for old people and children in cold winter weather.

Also devote some time to meditation on the most precious of all possessions, the much neglected and, nowadays, little discussed soul of man.

Very old is the observance of "All Saints' Day." In pagan days, before Christianity was born, the souls of the dead were supposed to come back on a certain day. Some ancient beliefs still persist, mixed with Christianity. In various countries, peasants believe that the souls of the dead return to their former earthly homes on All Souls' night and share the food of the living.

In the Tyrol, peasants leave cakes for returning souls on a convenient table.

In Britanny, pious peasants go to the cemeteries at night, kneel bareheaded before the graves of their dead, pour libations of milk on the tombstones; before going to bed, they leave supper on the table for any souls that may return.

We have outlived those early beliefs, and too many seem to have outlived all interest in the one thing that should interest them, the soul, which represents the only hope of life hereafter.

Baby Earthquake

GREATER NEW YORK, accustomed to reading about earthquakes, had a baby earthquake of its own. Walls were cracked in Brooklyn; police, firemen, engineers of bridges and tunnels were busy all night looking for possible damage or danger.

It was only a tiny earthquake, and Manhattan—heart of New York—situated on deep, solid rock, has not thus far been affected. However, man is small, nature is big. What happens in Montana and elsewhere can happend in New York.

A baby earthquake from below ground should make New York and Washington ask themselves how they would feel if a real earthquake should come in the shape of explosive bombs from the sky.

In an earthquake of any consequence, from above or below, the people of New York could not escape from the city, over two bridges, through jammed tunnels and subways.

An earthquake suddenly dropping from the clouds, TNT exploding, poison gas spreading, would be very uncomfortable.

Radio Town Meeting

THE OLD "town meeting" discussed affairs interesting to the town. In these days of the radio, enterprising individuals have organized "America's Town Meeting of the Air" to discuss matters interesting the whole country.

The old town meeting speaker could reach only the back of the hall, or the other side of the square, if he had a loud voice. The "Town Meeting of the Air" can reach from New York to San Diego, Seattle or Key West.

On Thursday night at New York's "air meeting," "Which Road to Peace?" was discussed on the radio by Clark M. Eichelberger, William Randolph Hearst, Junior, Dorothy Thompson, who is Mrs. Sinclair Lewis in private life, and the Rev. Ernest F. Tittle.

Mr. Eichelberger said the League of Nations alone can prevent war. He is probably mistaken. The League has not prevented the Ethiopian war or the Japanese-Manchukoan war.

William Randolph Hearst, junior, suggested that "minding our own business" might be desirable. To avoid all danger of complications, he thought the government, if necessary, might "pull every ship carrying the American flag off the seas until the war is over."

Mrs. Sinclair Lewis thinks "the League has always been motiviated by the self-interest of its strongest members;" quite sound.

Mr. Tittle, a clergyman of Evanston, Ill., said "There will be no peace until there is justice," which if true means that peace is some distance off.

This humble writer would suggest that the surest way to secure peace is to make yourself so strong that other nations would fear to attack.

This nation could do it, if it knew enough. Nobody ever tweaked John L. Sullivan's nose, and nobody inflicts that indignity on the present Joe Louis, for good reasons. It would have unpleasant results.

If this country could say to the nations of the world, "Come over and see how we could wipe out every city you possess, and kill half your population if you bother us," that might make peace secure, barring lunatics.

FRIDAY, 20,000,000 American school children celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mark Twain, who wrote "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn." See that your children read those books and read them again yourself, no matter how old you are.

This writer saw Mark Twain a long time ago, dining at the house of the late William M. Laffan, publisher of Charles A. Dana's New York Morning Sun.

Twain was discussing Darwin and his theory of evolution and a youthful listener, waiting for "the funny part," was as much disappointed as Mark Twain's character, who sat on the damp ground in the Holy Land watching a turtle and waiting for it to sing. He had read:

"The voice of the turtle was heard in the land."

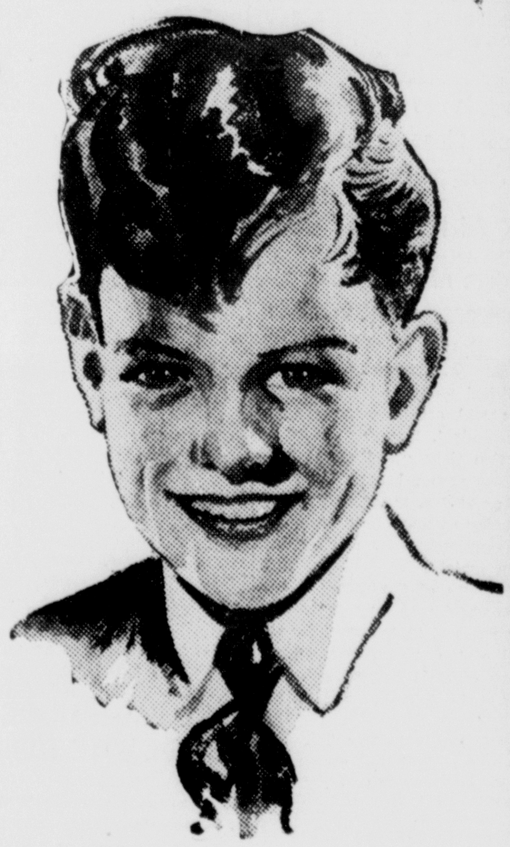
REMEMBER—YOUR CHILDREN WILL PAY—AND PAY—AND PAY! TODAY'S EXPENDITURES ARE THEIR BURDEN OF . . . . TOMORROW . . . . .



American boys and girls will inherit the Democratic debt which equals the total cost of government expenses for the first 124 years of our nation. This debt is mounting higher every minute. What you can't pay by excessive taxation during your lifetime your children must pay. A part of this debt was created by paying farmers for the hogs they didn't raise. Result, Pork Chops 35c per pound, Lard 25c per pound. DID YOU EVER HEAR OF A POTTER GETTING PAID FOR DISHES HE DIDN'T MAKE?

Tomorrow's election is not merely an election to fill public office. It is a poll of public opinion between impartial Americanism and Democratic waste.

PUSH FOR LIGHT TAX CONTINUED AT WELLSVILLE

Campaign to Continue Until Polls Close on Tuesday Supporters Say

ASK 65 PERCENT VOTE

Leaders of Republican and Democratic Parties See Count of 2,800

Political party and non-partisan forces will continue the canvass for municipal, township, board of education tickets and street light tax levy proposal until the polls close at 6:30 p. m., Tuesday, they said today as Republicans completed arrangements for a rally and parade tonight.

Supporters of the proposed one and one-half mill levy for street lights renewed their appeal for approval of the proposition, which, election officials pointed out, requires a 65 percent affirmative vote.

Ask Funds to Pay Bill

Councilmen indicated steps probably will be taken to curtail several lamps and reduce the candlepower of others, if the tax is rejected, for the municipality has no funds to liquidate a delinquent account of $19,000.

Leaders stood pat on a prediction that 2,800 voters will go to the polls which will open at 6:30 a. m.

Interest is centered in the mayoralty race between W. H. Daugherty, Democratic incumbent, seeking a third term, and Howard L. Kelley, Republican nominee.

Tickets Are Listed

Other municipal nominees are: Republican — President of council, George D. Ingram; auditor, W. A. Bennett; city solicitor, James L. MacDonald; treasurer, Earl G. Shoub; councilmen-at-large, John Hand, John Riel, Dwight McLean; First ward councilman, Frederick J. Matthews; Second ward councilman, Charles Ewing; Third ward councilman, R. Earl Patton; Fourth ward councilman, Matt Glaser Sr.

Democratic—President of council, C. B. Hempstead; auditor, no nominee; city solicitor, no nominee; councilmen-at-large, Isaac Meadoms; treasurer, Ralph Grafton; First ward councilman, O. B. Kessel; Second ward councilman, Wilford J. Minor; Third war councilman, August Storck; Fourth ward councilman, George H. Hamilton.

Wellsville township offices—Justice of Peace, Wallace L. Fogo, Grayce A. Miller, Clarence H. Peters, A. J. White; constable, A. L. Newton, C. R. Donaldson Jr., William Erwin, I. L. Freeman.

Board of education candidates—Dr. G. W. McMillan, Fred E. Musser, Charles Couts, E. E. Alton, G. W. McCartney, Edward G. Miller, Dr. Eugene P. Neitz, William B. Nicholson.

EAST END PARADE ON SCHOOL VOTE TONIGHT

Civic League Motorcade Will Join In Downtown Demonstration

An East End motorcade, urging renewal of the three-mill levy for operating expenses as well as bond issues for construction of school buildings, will participate in a parade in the downtown business section tonight.

The parade, sponsored by the East End Citizens' league, will form in Palissey street at 7. The high school band will give a concert in the Diamond.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT PRIVATE SECRETARY IN HER LATEST ROLE

'She Married Her Boss' Has Premiere At State

The problems of a private secretary are briskly dealt with in Claudette Colbert's new picture, "She Married Her Boss," which opened at the State theater to the accompaniment of enthusiastic applause.

Produced by the same company that gave you Miss Colbert in "It Happened One Night," the new film has the same buoyancy and freshness that made its predecessor a five-way prize-winner. "She Married Her Boss" is grand fun.

Miss Colbert herself is delightful; her inherent charm and vivacity have never been shown to better advantage. As a very efficient secretary who carelessly falls in love with her boss, she sees to it that he takes time off one day to buy her a wedding ring. That proves a costly mistake, for the marriage turns out to be one of the maddest things one can imagine.

The fun continues fast and furious, with Miss Colbert as the storm center. Melvyn Douglas does a fine job as the frantic boss, and Michael Bartlett, last seen in Grace Moore's "Love Me Forever," is thoroughly engaging as a devil-may-care chap who tries to manage the secretary's affairs for her.

Edith Fellows as the boss' precocious nine-year-old daughter; Katherine Alexander as his nerve-wracked sister; Raymond Walburn as a butler; Jean Dixon as Miss Colbert's crony; and Clara Kimball Young in a small hole are all splendid.

Sidney Buchman has provided, from Thyra Samter Winslow's story, a fine screen play with sparkling dialogue.

But, of course, it's Miss Colbert all the way. Vivacious intelligent, disarming in her frankness, she leaves no doubt in your mid that she is deserving of the highest honors the movies can bestow upon her. —W. L. W.

OLD INDIAN OBJECTS FOUND IN WISCONSIN

University Group Uncovers Culture Specimens of 300 Years Ago

MILWAUKEE — Discovery of specimens of an old Indian culture, dating back more than 300 years, has been announced by W. C. McKern, curator of anthropology at the Milwaukee public museum.

The specimens, which included furs, bones and bits of clothing, were uncovered from a large burial mound in Burnett County, Wis., by the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee public museum expedition into the northern section of the state. McKern was leader of the expedition.

All specimens will be placed on exhibit at the museum here.

LOCAL BOYS HONORED

William L. Smith, James N. Porter Win Recognition At Academy

William Leroy Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Smith of West Sixth street, and James Nessly Porter, son of Mrs. Margaret Porter of Park Way, and cadets at Riverside Military Academy at Gainesville, Ga., were publicly commended for excellency in academic work at chapel exercises recently. Both boys earned a general average of 95 percent or more during the preceding week and were awarded gold "R" emblems of superior scholarship.

STAR OF 'ESCAPE ME NEVER' AT COLUMBIA

NEW AUSTRIAN STAR TRIUMPHS IN PICTURE AT COLUMBIA THEATER

Elisabeth Bergner Appears In 'Escape Me Never'

Elisabeth Bergner came to town last night in "Escape Me Never." The tiny but much-heralded Austrian star thrilled a huge audience at the Columbia theater—an audience she held in the magic spell she so subtly weaves with her charm.

As Gemma Jones, the tiny lovable waif whom the irresponsible young composer Sebastian Sanger finds wandering about the streets of Venice with her new-born infant and gives shelter, she literally runs the whole gamut of emotions.

In the romantic atmosphere of the Dolomites whither the pair have travelled to help Sebastian's brother Caryl straighten out a romantic misunderstanding with his aristocratic fiancee, Fenella McLean, Sebastian becomes infatuated with Fenella. Gemma, crushed takes her baby and bolts for London. Sebastian follows and marries her but soon takes up his romance with Fenella again, although his wife is working as a slavery to earn his bread while he completes his ballet. The story reaches a stunning dramatic climax with the simultaneous death of the baby, and the success of the ballet, and ends on a tender note with the reconciliation of Sebastian and Gemma.

Hugh Sinclair, Griffith Jones and Leon Quartermaine retain the roles they played in the Margaret Kennedy play in which Bergner triumphed on both the New York and London stages. Sinclair is perfection itself as the caddish but withal, lovable Sebastian, Jones is excellent as the steady-going brother Caryl and Quartermaine is fine in the smaller role of Sir Ivor McLean. Others who shine are Penelope Dudley-Ward as Fenella, Irene Vanbrugh as her mother, Lyn Harding and Rosalinde Fuller. The film is produced and directed by Bergner's brilliant director-husband, Paul Czinner.

"Escape Me Never" is a moving and beautiful experience in the theater. You will adore Bergner. —K. R. M.

U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY SUPPLIES SCENES FOR 'SHIPMATES FOREVER'

Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler Star in Ceramic Bill

The United States government furnishes the background for "Shipmates Forever," starring Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, which opened an engagement at the Ceramic theater Sunday. A majority of the scenes in the production are laid in the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., or its environs.

Dick sings a number of catchy songs which fall naturally into the plot, he being a crooner at a New York park casino before becoming a naval cadet. Miss Keeler, who plays the part of an orphaned daughter of a naval officer, compelled to earn her living by dancing in a night club, gives an exhibition of fancy tap dancing with the famous Maglin Kiddies.

Powell is the son of Lewis Stone who is appointed commandant of the naval academy. He is anxious that his son follow in his footsteps but Dick has other plans. As the fleet enters New York harbor Dick meets Ruby Keeler, with whom he falls in love.

Dick is spoiled by fame and money but when Stone shows grief because his son has not entered the academy, the young man takes the examination and passes. He enters the academy under the wrong auspices. The boys of his Park Casino band play his popular tunes as he passes through the gates. Thinking that this was all prearranged Dick is scorned by his classmates.

His roommates at Annapolis are Ross Alexander, a country boy who is a radio amateur; Eddie Acuff, Ribert Light and John Arledge, the later a lad who has come up from the enlisted ranks. Because of his apparent egotism Dick is the subject of an unusual amount of hazing. He turns out to be a brilliant student but has no interest in the navy and plans to quit the service when he is graduated. He becomes a "lone wolf" and lives by himself, having nothing to do with the rest of the class.

Graduation is not far away and Dick goes with his class on a sea voyage. During battle practice on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, flagship of the Pacific fleet, a steam pipe explodes in the engine room. Dick sees John Arlegde unconscious in the scalding steam and rescues him. Dick suffers a change of heart and what the navy means in the way of service to the nation, friendship for his comrades and loyalty to the ship. He is the hero of the fleet. His pals return to him and he is promoted to company commander. It is a happy day when Lewis Stone presents his son with the sword of honor. His happiness is complete when Ruby Keeler says "yes."—H. J. K.

Diseased Tonsils Hamper Health, Physician Says

Dr. Copeland Advises Their Removal if They Are Infected or Enlarged

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

CHRONIC INFECTION of the tonsils is an unpleasant thing and doubtless a menace to health. If the tonsils are infected it means that poisons are traveling through the body and nobody can tell when pus formation may take place somewhere in the system.

Health examinations are made periodically in the modern school. Their purpose is to determine whether or not any physical handicaps and defects exist. Such examinations frequently reveal physical deficiencies which had not been suspected. As I see it the home and the school should eagerly cooperate in this matter.

Enlarged tonsils, if they are infected, not only give rise to repeated colds, sore throat and earache, but they produce conditions which may lead to serious complications. In spite of these dangers, there are many parents who are quite unwilling to have their children operated upon for removal of the tonsils. This is too bad because many youngsters would be benefited in general health and physical development and brought up to par as the effect of a simple operation.

Have Definite Reason

Of course, there should always be a very definite reason for the removal of the tonsils. Because they are large is not enough. Let us not forget that nature endows our bodies with various parts and structures, each of which has some definite purpose to serve. There is no doubt that normal, healthy tonsils act as a defense against the entrance of germs into the system. But on the contrary, when the tonsils are diseased, they spread poisons through the body; they endanger such vital organs as the heart and kidneys.

There are two good reasons for the removal of the tonsils. First, if the tonsils are sufficiently enlarged to interfere with breathing; secondly, when the tonsils become infected.

The tonsils should never be removed, however, during an acute attack of tonsilitis. Always wait until the inflammation subsides.

One of the most common complications of tonsilitis is middle ear infection. This often leads to accumulation of pus within the ear and may cause permanent damage to this delicate organ.

Disease in Children

With children who show signs of acute rheumatic fever or St. Vitus' dance, there should be careful examination of the nose and throat. If the tonsils are found to be diseased and enlarged they should be removed immediately. It is definitely known that acute rheumatic fever with heart involvement, as well as chorea, is more commonly found in children with diseased tonsils than in those whose tonsils have been removed.

Slightly-enlarged tonsils without signs of infection or interference with normal breathing need not be removed. If there is any doubt in your mind it is best to consult with your physician.

Answers to Health Queries

E. M. L. Q.—I have been trying to reduce during the summer months. My diet consists mainly of lemon juice, orange juice, some raw fruit, vegetables and salads, very little bread, no potatoes and very little meat. With this diet I have been troubled with constipation. What would you advise?

A.—Your diet should be well balanced although you may decrease the total amount of food taken daily. For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

L. E. L. Q.—What can be done for a patient suffering from epilepsy? Can this disturbance be cured?

A.—For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat the question. The treatmen depends upon the extent and seriousness of the trouble.

A Daily Fan. Q.—What can be done to overcome the habit of snoring?

A.—Mouth breathing is very apt to be factor under the circumstances. Make sure the nose and throat are clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Matrimonial Insurance

It seems that you can be insured against almost anything, except the risks and hazards of matrimony.

They'll insure you against fire, flood, hurricane and sudden death. But they won't insure you against divorce. Or unhappiness.

They'll insure your house against lightning and your windows against breakage. They'll insure your horse, your dog, your automobile, your furs and your jewels.

They'll even insure you against bad weather on your wedding day. Or on the day of your college football game. They'll insure you against accidents, old age and against the possibility of having twins. Oh, yes, they will!

If you are a dancer, they will insure your toes, or if you are a violinist they will insure your fingers. And one popular comedian is said to have had his nose insured. But they won't insure your heart or your happiness!

The most out-of-date, battered old schooner can start out for a three-month ocean voyage to the Antipodes, and Lloyd's or some other insurance company will bet you that it will arrive safely with its cargo. But no insurance company will bet that your good ship of matrimony will weather the domestic storms for a single week.

In short, you can get insurance against all of the elements, except the human element! That is regarded as too big a risk.

The only matrimonial insurance you can take out is that whereby two people insure themselves against failure and unhappiness, and both are willing to pay the premium.

Charm, beauty and intelligence won't insure a woman against making a mess of her marriage. Nor will wealth, success and power insure a man against making a failure of his marriage. Reno and places like that thrive on charming and beautiful women and wealthy and successful men.

The only thing that will buy matrimonial insurance is mutual love, consideration and understanding. Mutual fairness and good sportsmanship.

These are the total premium you pay for marital happiness. And don't let the policy lapse!

I believe it to be the solemn duty of every public official to refrain from having issued any more bonds, and to stay within the budget, even tho it may mean the curtailment of service, until our interest charges are cut down enough in our millage that the city can secure enough money to pay its current bills and its employees. I am strictly against a dole for any kind of relief where there is a man to work. I believe the only way to that coined phrase "social security" is by good honest persistent work. CLEAN ADMINISTRATION TO ALL

Your support at the Election, Tuesday, November 5, 1935, will be appreciated.

Atlantic White Flash, Atlantic Motor Oils and Atlantic Lubrication make possible an important new kind of 100,000-mile road test . . .

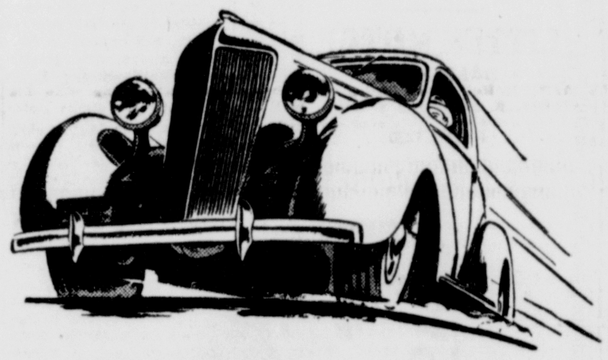
WITHOUT MOTOR REPAIRS WITHOUT CARBON REMOVAL

It isn't anything to drive a car 100,000 miles.

But it is a truly great achievement to drive a car 100,000 miles

—without cleaning carbon or replacing a single piston ring;

—and with essentially new-car performance and condition at the end.



Atlantic has just accomplished that feat at Toms River, N. J., in what is probably the most remarkable road test ever held.

The automobiles were stock models, driven by non-professional drivers over regular New Jersey roads, day and night, at an average speed of 40 miles an hour.

Remember that this 100,000-mile road test without repairs or carbon removal is the equivalent of ten years of normal driving. Then read these amazing results:

Engine—Not a single lubricated part failed, was tightened, or was even touched. No crankcase was removed.

Piston Rings—Not one was replaced, since there was no loss of power to indicate piston-ring wear.

Cylinders—Not one was rebored.

Wrist Pins and Bearings—No "slap" or other noise even at 100,000 miles.

Carbon—Not a particle was removed.

Acceleration—As good or better at 100,000 miles as when cars were new. For example, one automobile accelerated faster at the 99,000-mile mark than it did at the 10,000-mile mark . . . a sure indication of excellent engine condition, as a "sloppy" engine will not give good acceleration.

Gasoline Consumption—Averaged 22.2 miles per gallon throughout the test.

Oil Consumption—Averaged 518 miles per quart throughout the test.

Power Output—The average compression pressures (which govern power output and economy) increased steadily throughout the test. They were greater at 100,000 miles than they were at 10,000 miles.

Riding Qualities—Excellent throughout. No squeaks or rattles at any time.

General Condition—Cars looked, rode, and operated like new . . . even at 100,000 miles.

WHAT MADE IT POSSIBLE

The automobiles were given regular Atlantic Service throughout the test . . . consisting of Atlantic White Flash; and fresh Atlantic Motor Oil and Atlantic Lubrication every 1000 miles.

We believe the achievement was possible only because of the outstanding performance, protection and economy of these three products.

Atlantic White Flash burns so cleanly that it is possible to drive 100,000 miles without the need to have carbon cleaned. It keeps engines in such good condition that their performance and economy at that distance are practically as good as at 5000 miles. It gives unusually long mileage.

Atlantic Motor Oils reduce wear spectacularly, because their film-strength is three times greater than average, thus giving extra protection under all operating conditions. They are not corrosive, and have no tendency to sludge. You can easily identify them by the red "A" on the container.

Atlantic Lubrication keeps cars running smoothly, because it furnishes the right lubricant in the right place at the right time, exactly as specified by the cars' manufacturers.

ALSO AVAILABLE TO YOU

The Atlantic Products used on the 100,000-mile road test are also available to you. And we sincerely believe you will get the very finest results from your car by using them together. They are like a good football team; every player is vital to the whole. You sacrifice team-work when you send in a stranger as a substitute.

Thousands of conveniently located Atlantic Dealers and Service Stations are ready to serve you. Stop at the nearest one today.

The WORLD of STAMPS

BY QUINTON JAMES

Yugoslavia's boy king, Peter 2, who came on the throne at the assassination of his father, Alexander, appears in all of his youthful seriousness in a regular issue of the stamps of that country for the first time since he took over the royal reins.

However, it is not the formal introduction of the young ruler to phlately, for as the crown prince his portrait was used for the 1933 two-stamp issue in connection with the sixth anniversary of the National Sokols, or sports associations.

The new issue, apparently delayed during the time that the King Alexander mourning set was in use, is of comparatively simple design, with a boy's head within a circle against a border that is unbroken except for the inscription in open-faced lettering. The mourning set was made up by encasing the regular 1931-34 stamps bearing Alexander's picture within a black border extending into the perforations.

The stamps are somewhat smaller in size than the previous Yugoslav general postage, being a slight edge under the dimensions of the current U. S. 3-cent. The six values include 50-para orange, 75-p blue green, 1.50-dinar red, 175-d deep carmine and 3.50-d blue.

Postage Change Due

Another change in the style of the postage stamps of Canada is going into effect. Instead of the former horizontal design, the new stamps are upright with a new complete layout.

The phrase "postage due" appears in larger letters than heretofore while "Canada" has been transferred from the bottom to the top of the stamp. The amount of scroll work on the border has been reduced, with the familiar maple leaves incorporated in the design of a postage due for the first time. There is one in either of the upper two corners. As usual, the French inscription, "A Percevoir," is a part of the drawing.

So far only two values have been received, a 2-cent and a 4-cent. The dark violet coloring is continued.

A Few Notes

Ecuador, by overprinting a 10-centavo telegraph revenue stamp with "correos," has produced another regular postage variety.

Intended to bring together those collectors interested in the cultural aspects of stamp saving, the first American Philatelic congress is to be held in Philadelphia December 27 and 28. In announcing the event, Eugene Klein, president of the American Philatelic Society, said that it was the plan "to concentrate on the scholarly, scientific and historical phases of collecting."

Date for the appearance of the Michigan tercentenary 3-cent, the next addition to Uncle Sam's postal paper, is November 1, with the first day sale at Lansing, Mich., and at other postoffices the following day. Of the special delivery sizes, the stamp bears the state seal as the central figure, with the national and Michigan flags draped at the sides and base. The design also includes a forest and lake scene and one representative of commerce and industry.

The Sunlit Road

BY TOM T. JONES

One of the oldest burial grounds in southern Columbiana county is the little Township Line cemetery, located on a knoll overlooking the Township Line school, close to U. S. route No. 30 and State route No. 7. It is so named because of its location near the line separating St. Clair and Madison townships.

Many persons by the name of March and Welch are buried in this cemetery. The Welches are said to be related to the late Curt Welch, star outfielder of the St. Louis Browns, nearly 50 years ago. There are within this burial grounds two sections surrounded by iron fences.

One of these graves is that of Phillip March, who was born Sept. 7, 1813, and whose death occurred April 29, 1866. His wife, Sarah March, was born June 18, 1804, and died Jan 5, 1859. Beside their bodies is the resting place of their son, James S. March, who was born Oct. 10, 1835, and who died two months after his mother when 24 years of age. His headstone shows that he had been a member of the Masonic fraternity, probably at Lisbon. In this fenced-in plot is also the burial place of Mary Harmon, born Oct. 4, 1782, and who died Jan. 10, 1858. Another stone marks the burial place of Corporal Henry J. March who, during the Civil war, had been a member of Co. C, 16th Indiana Infantry.

In the second fenced-in plot lies the bodies of Samuel March, his wife, Elizabeth March, and his daughter, Sarah March, who died about the time that the Civil war was being fought. Many of the March women were given the name of Sarah by their parents.

One of the early burials in this cemetery, of which there is mute evidence on headstones, is that of William Duane Orr, son of J. B. Orr, who died March 14, 1849, when he was but two years of age. Another Orr child, Mary Belle, succumbed Dec. 22, 1862. John B. Orr, who was born in 1819, died in 1897. His wife, Mary, born in 1820, lived until 1901.

Marriages Exceed Divorces

LISBON, O., Nov. 4. — Thirty-seven marriage licenses were issued here during October, compared to 32 divorce petitions, marking the first time for several months Dan Cupid has triumphed. Seventeen of 79 new cases placed on the appearance docket in common pleas court during the 31-day period were foreclosure petitions.

NEW MOTOR CARS EQUIPPED WITH PLEXITE GLASS

Unshatterable Windshields And Windows Sold By Winland Company

NEAT INSTALLATION

Commercial, Industrial And Home Stock Also Available At Firm Here

With the new 1936 automobile models that are making their appearance, it is of interest to the public that many of them are equipped with the Plexite safety glass as an added protection to the passengers. This goes to prove the value placed upon this new product, which has swept the country.

Sold by the Winland Plate Glass Co. in Minerva and Walnut streets it is convenient for those who do not have this safety feature in their automobile to get it at a minimum cost. For those who may later find it necessary to replace the glass in their new car as a result of a wreck or other accident, the same service is provided.

While Plexite Safety glass is not uncrackable, it does not fly, but adheres to a transparent center. However, almost a Herculean blow is required to make an impression on it at all. Numerous records are on file where motor cars equipped with Plexite glass have come through wrecks without a crack.

It is a duty to your family and yourself to have your automobile fitted with this glass. You can't afford to be without it.

Another feature of the glass is that it will not become dull or marked as a result of its composition. Clear, bright vision is provided at all times, and it is impossible to tell it from plain glass.

Not only does the Winland Plate Glass Co. sell and install Pexite glass, but all other kinds of glass as well. There is no requirement in the glass line that they are not equipped to provide.

Glass panes for large windows, store fronts, counters, homes — in short all industrial and commercial uses—are kept in stock. Too, they have the equipment and men experienced in this type of work. There is a knack to fitting large windows and other kinds of glass that is acquired only by experience.

Specialty glass is also a part of their service. They supply colored glass or composition products for counter bases, store fronts, etc.

Stop in and look over the Winland Co.'s stock— if there is any kind they do not have, they will be glad to order and install it for you. If unable to drive in, telephone for descriptions and prices —you will be pleased at the reasonable rates and can rest assured will get a good job well done.

ADVANCE YULE TRADE IS REPORTED BRISK

Commerce Department Notes Business Gains Last Week

WASHINGTON, — A brisker advance business for Santa Claus was predicted today by the Commerce Department.

Noting continued retail trade gains for the week ended Wednesday on the basis of reports from 34 cities, the department found many cities "gave evidence of a holiday business this year that will run considerably ahead of last year's volume."

New York estimates placed the demand for gift cosmetics and perfumes 15 to 20 per cent ahead of last year, while holiday orders for such items as leather handbags, light luggage, ribbon novelties, and toys were 10 per cent ahead.

Philadelphia manufacturers expected a holiday business 22 per cent better than last year, with buying beginning early. A prominent Chicago wholesale firm reported October shipments of holiday gift lines were up 1 per cent. St. Louis holiday trade has not reached the peak, but orders so far are 20 per cent ahead.

Slipper manufacturers in New England have orders 25 per cent up in dollar value, and 40 per cent up in volume over last year. A large Springfield, Mass., toy maker reported a 25 per cent gain.

NEW OLDSMOBILES ON DISPLAY AT LITTEN'S

Oldsmobile for 1936 announces a new line of style-leader Sixes and Eights. Featuring knee-action wheels, super-hydraulic brakes, solid steel "Turret Top" body by Fisher, safety glass standard throughout, center-control steering, ride stabilizer and many other advantages, the new cars are on display at Litten's, local dealers. Above is shown the Eight with two views of the Six below. Interior fittings harmonize with the beauty of exterior design.

Litten Motor Co. Lists Numerous Improvements in 1936 Oldsmobile

The Litten Motor Sales Co. in East Fifth and Walnut streets, local dealers announce two 1936 models, the Oldsmobile Six and the Oldsmobile Straight Eight.

"Truly quality cars at remarkably low prices" is the way they were described by R. C. Burson, general manager, in making the announcement.

Every proven mechanical feature which adds to comfort, safety, economy or performance is engineered into the 1936 Oldsmobiles, he said. Style leadership is maintained and augmented by a smart, new design and luxurious interior appointments.

"Oldsmobile in 1936 is characterized by every feature which adds to the quality of an automobile," said Mr. Burson. "The exterior beauty speaks for itself, keeping Oldsmobile far in the forefront in style streamlining."

Among those features which are found on the new Oldsmobile are: Superhydraulic brakes, self-equalizing and self-engineering, which stop a car swiftly and surely and smoothly.

Knee-action wheels which smooth bumps from the road, permitting the same comfortable ride for passengers in the rear seat as is given those in the front seat.

Solid steel "turret top" body by Fisher, providing protecting walls of steel above, below and on every side.

Safety glass standard equipment throughout in all models.

Center control steering, giving an ease of handling impossible under any other steering system.

Ride stabilizer, which "straightens out the curves" by eliminating car sway rounding turns at high speed.

Hardened aluminum alloy pistons, electrically treated to make them far harder and more durable than those fashioned from ordinary aluminum. These pistons reduce oil consumption, minimize carbon deposits, lengthen bearing life and greatly lessen the possibility of scoring cylinder walls.

Stop at the Litten Motor Sales Co. today and inspect the new models for yourself.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY BOOSTS EMPLOYMENT

Payrolls Stepped Up As Distribution Of New Models Starts

DETROIT — Having achieved a more thorough control over production and distribution than at any previous period in its history, the automobile industry currently is getting under way its major effort in the movement toward stabilizing employment.

With the steady upward climb of unit production, the plan of the industry may be said to be entering a third phase. The first was the work begun early this year in pointing toward an earlier new model introduction season and the cooperation between producers and distributors that enabled the sales division to virtually denude its floors of current models before the assembling of 1936 types got under way.

The second phase came in what the manufacturers say has been a stepping up of aggregate payrolls without the hiring of a great many temporary workers. This phase, according to employers, increased earnings of the individual employe by approximately 28 percent and provided an average of three weeks more employment during the current year to date as compared with the like period of 1934.

One of the things the advanced date for new model introduction will accomplish, along with the further progress toward the general objective, will be that a traditional slump period in the industry —the final quarter of the year— will be converted into one resembling mid-season activity.

The general objective in the industry, one which it never has undertaken before, is to eliminate the fluctuation in employment and by so doing create a steadier retail demand for its product. Talk has been heard in various quarters of the trade that a 20 to 15 percent increase in distribution next is not entirely improbable.

QUICK LOAN AIM OF COLUMBIANA COUNTY FINANCE

Courtesy, Efficiency Mark Dresden Avenue Firm Transactions

BORROW UP TO $300

Automobile, Furniture And Signature Accepted As Security

The Columbiana County Finance Co. in Dresden avenue, one-half block from the Diamond, is the answer to negotiating a quick loan. It is the company's aim to make this as easy and as convenient for the client as possible.

Under the management of George Steele, efficiency is the keynote of the organization and you will find him reasonable and fair in all dealings. It is a special service the finance company provides the public and requires tact and experience.

To be of benefit to you, they must be prepared to advance money on a moment's notice—and this they do. It is only practical that they ask some security, the same as in any other financial transaction. For this you may list an automobile, furniture, your sigature or other security. No indorser is necessary.

The realization has come that the finance company of today is the medium by means of which the family, or any unit thereof, is enabled to solve all financial difficulties. These difficulties may present themselves in the form of extraordinary and unexpected expenditures, or they may be expected expenditures in such sums that the accumulation of money toward their payment is seemingly impossible from deductions made from current income. The finance company of today takes the hundred and one problems and smoothes them out, so that the extraordinary immediate need is one, which is spread out over the entire year.

During the more recent years the finance company's service has been broadened, so that it also takes care of purchases of automobiles and other family needs. Such a complete and comprehensive finance plan is found at the Columbiana County Finance Co., 612 Dresden avenue.

Whether it be a loan on household property, automobile, etc., they will advance money for a reasonable consideration. It is to their interest, as well as to the customer's, to have the latter satisfied.

Personal loans are available up to $300, and remember you have 20 months in which to repay. It is worth while to have such a service that is offered by this old, established firm.

Telephone Main 1076 today or stop in at 612 Dresden avenue and have a chat with Mr. Steele or one of his co-workers. Their plan is worth of investigation and will prove to be a real benefit in time of finacial difficulties. They will be willing to answer all questions and explain payment plans etc.

MAKE THE FROCK THAT COMBINES SMARTNESS WITH PRACTICABILITY
PATTERN 2500
BY ANNE ADAMS

Two "must have's" that appear on Fashion's scoreboard, and in this clever design, are Smartness and Practicability. Therefore it's a frock you can't afford to be without this Winter, for it's grand and warm beneath a topcoat, and makes a trim appearance at club-meeting, church gathering, or at the office. There's an individual line to the yoke, an easy cut to raglan sleeves, while inverted pleats furnish the new hemline width. It's ever so smart in a rich, jewel-tone synthetic, or in one of the new, dressy woolens that keep those "special" dates. Try different accessories for a varied effect. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Pattern 2500 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Order your FALL AND WINTER EDITION OF ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK! You'll be thrilled with the smart designs it pictures—clothes for all occasions . . . for all your family. Adorable, easy-to-make Christmas gifts, too. And helpful advice on being the charming, perfectly-groomed woman. A book you'll love and consult frequently—all season! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

MR. and MRS. VOTER

Friends are a man's best asset in life. To my many friends who have worked hard and diligently in my behalf, I promise if re-elected to my second term to give East Liverpool the same Honest, Efficient, Economical Administration as during the past two years—which has resulted in reducing our operating expenses to a minimum and has enabled us for the first time for many years to meet our 1935 current bonded indebtedness and interest.

I will continue to devote all of my time to uphold the reputation of our city as being the cleanest in the Ohio Valley. Experience has proven that managing a 21 million dollar corporation is not a spare time job.

I sincerely believe that a Republican administration keeping us recognized as a Republican community will be an asset to our city.

Sincerely,

O. EARL GREENAWALT

STOCKS SLUMP IN EARLY TRADE

Recent Leaders Show Little Resistance to Profit Realizing Sales

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—After a brisk and rather firm opening, profit taking appeared in today's early stock market dealings. The motors gave ground without much resistance and a number of the recent leaders reacted. Oils and specialties were higher. The activity dwindled on realizing.

Issues steady to as much as a point improved included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Consolidate Gas, Maytag, U. S. Smelting, Fairbanks-Morse, Cerro De Pasco, Crown Cork, Phillips Petroleum, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Barnsdall and Mid-Continent Petroleum.

Allied Chemical dropped 4 points, Case was off nearly 3, and General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Schenley, Columbia Gas and Union Pacific yielded fractions to a point or more. Call money renewed at ¾ of 1 percent.

At the start of the business week traders and investors continued to study economic developments in their search for market clues.

A fairly optimistic note was sounded by the magazine "Steel" which said: "The industrial tempo seems to be quickening. Automobile manufacturers opened up on steel specifications, booking numerous sheet and strip mills to capacity on full-finished grades through November, lifting the general average of sheet mill operations to 70 percent.

"An unexpected influx of tin plate orders from can makers and for export reversed the three-week downtrend in tin plate production, raising it 10 points to 60 percent."

Sterling opened ⅝ of a cent higher at $1.92½, and the French franc was unchanged at 6.59 cents. Hongkong dollars slumped 4.25 cents to 38 cents and Shanghai funds were off 1.26 cents at 29.87 cents.

MARKETS TO CLOSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Election day will be observed as a general holiday throughout the financial district here, all financial and commodity exchanges being closed.

"TO EVERY VOTER"

As the Republican Nominee for City Solicitor, I have endeavored to see every voter in the City.

In 1932 and 1933, I served as Solicitor of the City of East Liverpool during which period many damage cases amounting to the sum of $38,310.00 were brought against the city. As Solicitor, said cases were settled or tried in Court at a total cost of $740,000 and no Attorneys were employed to assist me.

If the voters elect me to Solicitor on Tuesday, November 5, 1935 I pledge myself to render the same legal service to the citizens of East Liverpool as was given during the years 1932 and 1933.

I respectfully solicit your vote and support on Tuesday, November 5, 1935 for a Second Term.

G. JAY CLARK
Republican Nominee for City Solicitor.

MAYOR

We have come to the eve of election day. I have worked hard but have enjoyed renewing many old acqaintances and making new friends. I am NOT A POLITICIAN but have conducted my campaign free from "back-biting" which, at such times, is often carried to ridiculous extremes.

Many rumors are still afloat concerning appointments etc. but I assure you they have no foundation. Since I have made NO PRE-ELECTION PROMISES and am under no obligations, EFFICIENCY in every department can and will be the key-note of my administration.

I solicit your Vote and hope to be elected tomorrow, solely on my merits as a business man and a citizen vitally interested in the WELFARE and PROGRESS of our city.

MARTINS FERRY KEEPS SPELL OVER POTTERS TO WIN AGAIN, 13 TO 6

Purple Riders Use Same Play To Score Touchdowns in Second And Third Quarters—Liverpool's Only Score Comes From Blocked Punt, Long Pass

By KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Review

The gridiron jinx which has dogged the path of the East Liverpool High school Potters in 13 previous encounters with the Purple Riders of Martins Ferry was very much in evidence Saturday afternoon in the down-river town when the locals took another defeat, 13 to 6.

It was the 14th time the two schools had met in a fotball encounter and never in that time has the Blue and White been able to emerge with a victory or even a tie. Saturday's game was the ninth time the two schools have clashed in as many years. The other games were scattered over a period dating back to 1912.

It was not a great Martins Ferry team that downed the Potters but it was the great work of Jack Bennett, Purple fullback, who led the Riders to an easy victory. His slashes at the line and passing stood out above every other individual performance. He was injured in the final quarter of the game and had to be taken out of the lineup.

Locals Listless

The Potters appeared to perform listlessly. They failed to show any of the old fire that characterized most of their previous games.

The same play was used by the Riders to score both touchdowns after Bennett had placed the ball in scoring position. It was a forward pass from Bennett to Joseph, right end, who lateraled to Halfback Davis. Davis romped over the goal line twice, once in the second period and again in the third. The first time it was from the Liverpool 35-yard line and the second from the 18.

East Liverpool's score in the fourth period also resulted from a forward pass, and came after a blocked punt. McCloy, substitute end, gained considerable credit in the play, picking up a punt which was blocked by Proctor and then taking a forward pass from Steffen to score from the 32-yard line. The touchdown brought hopes to the Potter fans that the local club would begin clicking. But the score was only a flash in the pan and the game ended before the locals could threaten the Martins Ferry goal line again.

19 Yards From Scrimmage

The Potter running plays were almost a failure, resulting in a total gain of 19 yards. Loses from scrimmage were five yards with a net of 14 yards gained from scrimmage.

The passing attack accounted for a total of 107 yards and most of the five first downs. Nine passes out of 22 attempts were completed.

The Riders gained 258 yards from scrimmage and lost 37. They completed three passes out of eight for a gain of 57 yards.

At the start of the game, Ferry advanced to the three-yard line but were turned back after two passes over the goal line were incomplete. The Potters kept the ball in the Ferry territory the remainder of the period, the quarter ending with the ball on the Riders' 31 and fourth down.

The victors started the second quarter with a punt which was returned after the Potters made a first down and then failed to advance. The punt was taken on Martin Ferry's 15 and advanced four. Then Bennett started his powerful plunges and placed the ball on the Liverpool 35. Then came the passes that brought the first touchdown.

Drive From Kickoff

Taking the ball on their own 40 after two Rider kickoffs went out of bounds, the Potters advanced the ball to their opponent's 38 before being forced to kick. The ball was downed on the three-yard line when the half ended.

Returning the opening kickoff in the second half from his own 11 to the Liverpool 47, Bennett then made it a first down in the next two plays. M. Orens and Davis on three plays made another first down and then Bennett on three straight stabs off tackle carried the ball to the 18 from where the second touchdown was scored. The remainder of the quarter was spent in punting with neither side getting much of an advantage.

After stopping a new Purple drive on the Liverpool 41, Proctor blocked a punt and McCloy picked it up and ran to the Ferry 38. A pass Steffen to Spencer, advanced the ball to the 32 and then Steffen heaved one to McCloy who made a beautiful run along the sideline for the touchdown.

Capt. Schoolcraft played his best defensive game of the season for the Potters. He was breaking through the Purple line for many passes and more than once stopped the hard-hitting Bennett.

When the local team reached the final quarter of the game, they were tired out from the punishment they had taken from the battering down-river eleven. Tychonievich, regular end, was out of the game because of a charley horse. Oliver, tackle, was forced out of the game with an injured shoulder.

LUCKY THIRTEEN

THIRTEEN IS a lucky number for John Innes Cruikshank, 1935 open golf champion of Argentina and the first foreign-born pro to win the title in recent years. Cruikshank, a Scot, won the title on October 13, thirteen years after his arrival in Argentina on November 13, 1922.

LISBON UPSETS WELLSVILLE IN CLOSE CONTEST

Blue and White Comes From Behind in Second Half To Snare 7-6 Win

Phil Bikle's Lisbon High football gladiators scored their second upset victory in as many weeks when they eliminated Coach Bill Storer's Wellsville eleven from the Columbiana county Big Five race Saturday by scoring a touchdown in the second half of their engagement at Nicholson field and kicking the extra point to win 7-6.

With his team trailing 6-0 in the third period, Vanaman, who has been one of Lisbon's main threats all season, intercepted a Bengal pass on the Wellsville 30-yard line, eluded a host of Wellsville tacklers and romped to the goal line. Rubino's educated toe added the extra point that spelled defeat for the Orange and Black.

Wellsville scored its lone touchdown in the second quarter on a long pass from Trainor to Connell which netted 52 yards. Connell's place-kick went wide.

Although Wellsville seemingly outplayed the Blue and White in the most departments of the game, Lisbon was well able to turn the breaks of the game to its advantage. Whenever the Wellsville attack snapped out of its sluggishness, the Blue and White warriors were on their toes to break up forward passes and stop the knifing Bengal line thrusts.

The encounter put the Bengals clear out of the Big Five race. It was the second loop loss they have suffered and even should they succeed in downing Liverpool on Thanksgiving day, they have no chance for a tie, as the Potters are undefeated in the Big Five, with the Turkey Day scrap the only league game remaining on the Liverpool schedule.

Lisbon last week scored one of the season's greatest upsets by taking a 14-0 triumph from Boardman to knock the Mahoning countians from the top of the Tri-County league.

MERCHANTS WIN FROM PANTHERS

Touchdown Dashes by Pack Feature Contest With Pittsburgh Eleven

Two long dashes by Pack, diminutive end, gave the East End Merchants a 14-0 victory over the South Side Panthers from Pittsburgh in an exciting encounter at upper Columbian park yesterday afternoon.

Pack took the ball on an ends around play in the first period, completely bewildered the Panther eleven and raced 35 yards for the initial score. He also added the extra point from placement.

An identical play in the third quarter netted the same result. Pack scoring from the 45. Ferrello plunged for the extra point.

The Pittsburgh aggregation held a slight weight advantage over the Merchants, but the latter were able to halt every threat. The play of Brandt on the line was particularly outstanding on the defense. Reed and Ferrello added to Pack's open-field running with consistent gains through the Panther line.

The Merchants are slated to do battle with the Pitcairn Alumni club next Sunday.

LEETONIA DEADLOCKED IN SPECTACULAR FRAY

Louisville Holds Columbiana Countians to 13-13 Tie

Leetonia and Louisville battled through four spectacular periods on the latter's gridiron Saturday in a Tri-County league engagement which ended in a 13-13 deadlock.

The versatility of Ferguson, stellar Louisville halfback, was responsible for all his team's tallies. He drop kicked two field goals from the vicinity of the 10-yard line, one in the first and one in the third period, and dashed 40 yards for a touchdown in the third frame after taking a pass from Klinger.

Leetonia held a 7-3 lead at halftime following Nicolette's 18-yard smash off tackle in the second period but Ferguson's 10 points gave Louisville the edge going into the final quarter. Leetonia then opened up a passing attack to carry the ball to midfield from its own 19. Nicolette tossed a 20-yard pass to Altomore who covered the remaining 30 yards for the last touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

The lineups:

SEBRING VICTORIOUS OVER PALESTINE, 14-7

Van Hyningmen's Title Hope Given Terrific Setback

Sebring High school's band of fighting Purple and Gold gridders sent East Palestine's hopes for the Tri-County league football championship tumbling to the ground Saturday by taking a 14-7 decision from the Van Hyningmen on their home lot.

The visitors held an edge over the Brown and White throughout most of the fray, scoring early in the second quarter, when Iddings raced over from the 10-yard line, and again in the third on a 25-yard pass from Rogers to Mercer. Smith kicked both extra points.

Palestine opened up a vicious attack in the final period and, following a series of passes, brought the ball to the Sebring one-yard line. Morris plunged for the touchdown and McGuckin kicked the extra point.

The Van Hyningmen continued to fling forward passes with reckless abandon in an attempt to tie up the contest but were unable to get near the Sebring goal line before the gun brought an end to the proceedings.

The lineups:

E. Palestine	Pos.	Sebring

INDIAN CLASHES WITH WATERS ON LOCAL MAT CARD

Yaqui Joe in Feature Tilt of Double Main Wednesday At Midland

Yaqui Joe, the conquering Mexican Indian, will return to the mat at Winland auditorium Wednesday night to seek new honors in the eyes of his local followers.

After defeating Frankie Clemons handily in last week's headlines, the Indian has been booked against tougher opposition in Teddy Waters, the Texas cowboy.

Waters appeared on the opening card of the season against Bobby Wagner of New Hampshire and suffered a surprising loss after he had victory almost with in grasp.

He will be on his toes against the clever Mexican boy. Joe's flying toehold promises to give the cowboy plenty to think about and the Indian probably will uncork a few new ones if the occasion demands. Waters, who figured he had things easy against Wagner, will not hesitate to rough things up in an effort to chalk up his first local victory.

The bout is one of two main gains scheduled over the two-hour route with two falls out of three to win. In the other match, Mexican Pete, who was impressive in last week's show, will take on Jack Craig of Oklahoma City.

Mexican Pete and Marshall Carter went to a draw in last week's 45-minute semi-final. Craig is a newcomer here but has established quite a reputation wherever he has appeared.

In addition to the two main events, a six-round boxing show is being scheduled on the program.

CHESTER - STUBBERS BATTLE TO 0-0 TIE

Ewingmen's Performance Rated as Best of Year

Earl Ewing's Chester gridders, presenting the best exhibition of football they have put on during the current campaign, played Steubenville Central Catholic reserves to a scoreless tie on the West Virginia gridiron Saturday afternoon.

The Chester defense was particularly outstanding against the, repeated thrusts of the heavier and more experienced Stubbers and succeeded in halting the tricky Notre Dame offensive style of play used by the down-river aggregation from the start of the contest.

The game developed into a bitter struggle with neither team able to threaten seriously. Morris, playing his first game since the Toronto tilt, in which he received a couple of broken ribs, intercepted a Stubber pass and broke away for 45 yards before being stopped, to send a thrill through the spines of the Chester supporters.

Vanaman played his usually fine game on both the offense and defense. The play of the entire line and backfield was well up to par throughout the fray. Kovalic, Pender and Maley turned in brilliant performances for the visitors.

The lineups:

Chester.	Pos.	Steubenville.
Vanaman	LE	Skeetino
Hoskinson	LT	Latzy
Gallo	LG	Kliner
House	Center	Bowers
James	RG	Jordan
Watson	RT	Straney
Simcox	RE	Clark

11 MAJOR GRID TEAMS STILL IN TITLE RACE

Three in Middle West and Four in Eastern Sector of Nation

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—A weekend of intense firing, featured by the collapse of Ohio State's Buckeyes, brought some semblance of order out of the maddest football whirl in history.

Eleven major teams still boast perfect records, marred neither by defeat nor tie. Geographically, they are distributed as follows:

East — Princeton, Dartmouth, New York university and Syracuse.

Middleweat — Minnesota, Notre Dame and Marquette.

South—North Carolina.

Southwest—Southern Methodist and Texas Christian.

Far West—California.

ROSS FIELDS ON CARD

Weirton Boy to Meet Norment Quarles of North Carolina

Ross Fields of Weirton will be in one of the two feature 10-round fights at Motor Square Garden in Pittsburgh tonight, facing Norment Quarles, former intercollegiate champion of North Carolina.

The other feature will bring together Tony Herrer, the Mexican, and Mickey Duris of Johnstown.

Ohio State Turns Attention To Big 10 After First Loss

Notre Dame Scores Three Touchdowns In Final Quarter To Win Game—Buckeyes Play Chicago Saturday With Michigan and Minnesota Still in Race

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Ohio State's chastened Buckeyes, Minnesota and Michigan resume their drives for Big Ten gridiron honors Saturday, while the Notre Dame menace strikes into the conference for the third, and last time of the season, against Northwestern.

The "Scarlet Scourge" which lost some of its color during that almost unbelievable final period Saturday when Notre Dame scored three touchdowns for an 18 to 13 triumph, comes back to the conference wars against Chicago at Stagg field. Minnesota meets Iowa in the top game of the day at Iowa City, and Michigan tackles its ancient foe, Illinois at Champaign. Indiana plays at Maryland.

Iowa, held to a 6 to 6 draw by Indiana Saturday in the rain at Iowa City, is not completely out of the title running. The Hawkeyes' chances, however, depend upon whipping Minnesota — something they don't figure to do—while someone else belts Ohio State over.

As the race hits the stretch bend, Michigan, unexpectedly enough, appears to be the prime threat to the hopes of both Minnesota and Ohio State, since losing their opening game to Michigan State's strong eleven by a lop-sided score, the Wolverines have come along to win four straight games. Showing continued improvement, they could cause the Gophers and Buckeyes a lot of trouble.

Minnesota meets Michigan at Ann Arbor a week from Saturday. Ohio State tackles the Wolverines in the final game of the season the week following, also at Ann Arbor.

Minnesota which showed signs of unsteadiness in victories over North Dakota State, Nebraska, Tulane and Northwestern, gave a truly convincing demonstration of power and speed in crushing out Purdue's title chances Saturday, 29 to 7. With Clarence (Tuffy) Thompson serving as the head man in the attack, the Gophers gave Purdue few opportunities to carry the ball, and themselves scored in every period.

Oze Simmons, Iowa's slippery Negro back, was good for one of his spectacular dashes, a 59-yard touchdown gallop, but between Indiana's sturdy defense and a gummy field, he couldn't get away again. Simmons' run came only after the Hoosiers had climaxed the only sustained march of the game with a touchdown by Corbett Davis.

Northwestern bounced out of last place for the first time of the year by whipping Illinois, 10 to 3. Lowell Spurgeon's field goal, the first one of the conference season, gave the Illini a lead which lasted until the final period. Chuck Duvall tied it up with the second field goal of the campaign, and Don Heap clinched victory for the Wildcats with a 42-yard run.

Michigan followed up its 11 to 7 victory over Columbia two weeks ago, by taking a 16 to 6 fall out of Pennsylvania's highly regarded eleven at Ann Arbor. The Wolverines used several regulars sparingly, in anticipation of Saturday's battle at Illinois, but had little trouble with the Quakers.

BROADWAY MOUNTS WIN OVER BENEDICTS

Crucibles Nosed Out By One Point in Close Scrap

Midland's independent gridiron outfit lost a heartbreaking 7-6 tussle to the Broadway Mounts of Pittsburgh in a Pittsburgh Sport Shop conference scrap on Crucible field yesterday afternoon.

The Mounts took an early lead after long passes put the ball in scoring position in the initial period. Kopp plunged for the score and kicked the extra point that was to spell defeat for the Crucibles.

Midland came through with a passing attack in the second frame, Todd scoring on a short forward over the line. Halpate missed the try for extra point.

FORMER E. LIVERPOOL HURLER DIES IN AKRON

"Lefty" Wilhelm Well Known Here As Masterful Pitching Ace

Frederick J. "Lefty" Wilhelm, 52, one-time Philadelphia National league flinger and former star of the East Liverpool club in the old-Ohio-Pennsylvania league, died at his home in Akron Saturday.

Wilhelm was well-known here for his masterful pitching as well as his eccentricities which caused many fans to liken him to "Rube" Waddell.

He pitched the first legal Sunday game in East Liverpool against Mansfield.

STEELS - BEAVER FALLS TILT ENDS IN 7-7 DEADLOCK

Midland Eleven Scores in Last Frame to Tie Highly Touted Outfit

Exhibiting the some high quality of gridiron performance they displayed in downing East Liverpool here some weeks ago, Coach Rusty Lomond's Midland High Crucibles covered themselves with glory Saturday in holding a highly favored Beaver Falls eleven to a 7-7 tie.

The Midland defense was like a stone wall throughout most of the encounter, time and time again stopping cold the threats of the Fallsmen, previously undefeated, untied and rated as the second best Class Double A outfit in its division of the W. P. I. A. L.

Beaver Falls threatened in the first half by putting the ball on the two-yard line with four downs to go for a score, but the Steel line became tighter than green rawhide and the visitors were unable to pick up the necessary yardage for the touchdown.

In the third period the Beaver Falls outfit marshaled its forces for an extensive drive from midfield to score, but Midland came from behind in the final frame to deadlock the encounter. Zoroy blocked a punt on the 45 and carried the ball to the 35. A pass from W. Smith to Prodonovich placed the ball in scoring position, from where D. Edmiston took it over.

The lineups:

Midland.	Pos.	Beaver Falls.
Standley	LE	Lewis
Longfellow	LT	DePaul
Onuska	LG	Trieber
Libratore	Center	Nelle
Zoroy	RG	Leigh
B. Smith	RT	Groom
Prodonovich	RE	Piccini
Alston	QB	Friedlander
McNeill	LH	Rose
Caruso	RH	Hartnett
D. Edmiston	FB	Lonnet

Score by quarters:

Midland	0	0	0	7	—7
Beaver Falls	0	0	7	0	—7

Touchdowns—Rose and D. Edmiston. Points after touchdowns — Rose and D. Edmiston (placements.)

Substitutions: Midland — W. Smith, Gesdar, Maroni, C. Edmiston, Beaver Falls—Marshall, Pace, Killian, Rafferty, Boggs, Sperino, Grant.

Referee—Grey. Umpire—Buchanan. Head linesman—Jones.

THE TITLE OF OUR NEW CHAPTER IS — "YOU CAN'T EXPECT APRIL SHOWERS FROM WAR CLOUDS"
A TERRIFIC DRAMA!
WILL POPEYE'S NEW NATION SURVIVE???? HAH! THERE'S A WOMAN BRUTIAN SPY IN POPEYE'S PALACE RIGHT THIS MINUTE -
I'M NOT GOING TO HOLD MY HANDS UP ANY LONGER - I'M GETTING A CRAMP
YOU'LL HAVE WORSE THAN CRAMPS IF YOU PUT 'EM DOWN!
OH, YEAH?
BOOM
OH, MY GOSH!
I WON'T MISS YOU THIS TIME!!

THE GUMPS

By Sidney Smith

LET ME SEE NOW — IF I WERE ABLE TO PUT $2,000. IN FLEXIBLE GLASS PREFERRED AND IF IT WERE TO TRIPLE IN VALUE IN A WEEK, THAT WOULD BE $6,000 —
AND IF IT TRIPLED AGAIN THE NEXT WEEK, LIKE BIM SAID HIS STOCKS WERE DOING, THAT WOULD BE $18,000. — AND IF I SOLD THEM AND DIDN'T TAKE ANY RISKS, THAT WOULD BE $16,000. CLEAR PROFIT —
BUT IF I COULD PUT $10,000. IN TO BEGIN WITH, AND IF THAT TRIPLED THE SAME WAY, THAT WOULD BE $30,000. — THE FIRST WEEK — AND $90,000. THE SECOND WEEK — A CLEAR PROFIT OF $80,000. —

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Bowman,

SYNOPSIS: Anne Farnsworth just has learned that Rob Crocker, her former fiance, is cheating the Farnsworth Fisheries, of which he is general manager, by surreptitiously owning three of the fish traps old Luke Farnsworth had detested. Anne has, apparently, been left out of Luke's will; she finds also she is not even his adopted daughter. Her "relatives" have turned her out, and she is living on a small allowance among the disgruntled Finnish fishermen who serve the Farnsworth Canneries.

Chapter 27

FIRST STEP

Anne thought of her foster uncle, Lee Farnsworth. She went back in memory to her earliest recognition of him as part of her world. She had never known him to do an unfair, unjust act. She had never known him to be unkind. His only fault had been his good-natured, easy going disposition.

But he had stood by her that one time. He had defied Charlotte, at what must have been considerable cost to his peace of mind. Perhaps if he realized what was going on he would fight to see that Luke's wishes were carried out.

"How can I reach him, without revealing my whereabouts," she pondered. "I don't want to risk seeing him, though I would if it were necessary."

And then she decided she could write to Judge Kellogg, who, having read the will, could approach him on the ground of the canneries' failure to obey the terms. It would save her writing direct, for she wasn't sure the letter wouldn't be waylaid so he would never receive it.

Satisfied with her decision, she looked up. John was standing near, watching her. "Feel better?" he asked.

Anne nodded and just then a call came from George. It was time to haul in the catch and John sprang into action. Even Miina, who had been curled up on the galley bench asleep, stood by.

Anne watched entranced as the net was hauled in, the steady glare of the boat's searchlight playing on the fish as they came flipping over the side. A giant chinook flopped out of the net and Orvi uttered a cry of triumph. A good omen for the boat, it was all of thirty pounds.

George tossed a flat flounder back into the water. "Plap" it went and Anne laughed as she imagined it cutting the lower waters like a blade in its rush to reach the shadowy security of the bottom. There was a sturgeon, too, to be taken home and baked by Tecla.

It was a good haul; a good omen. Satisfied, they put back to town, nosed into a wharf from where Anne, huddled in John's coat, could see the Farnsworth Fisheries, the silver letters of the sign gleaming out beneath the wharf lights.

She thought of another time when she had looked up at the long green buildings. So much had happened in the short span of time between; so many things which Luke had given the best of his life to perfect were being undone. And she was helpless to interfere, her hands literally tied by the will Luke had left.

And yet, Anne felt that there was something yet to come, some crisis for her to meet. Standing in the prow of the boat, her face lifted to the cool, night wind, she wondered if she would have the courage, the high courage, to meet it.

That night she lay in her narrow bed and thought of the things John had told her. Somehow she could not doubt him. It clarified the mystery of Luke's actions, it explained Rob's reaction to her loss of the estate.

And she thought of John's concern over some possible danger to her. Foolish that, but pleasing. He had asked her to trust him. She did, though she wondered how she could trust anyone after the way her implicit faith in Rob had been shattered.

Anne awakened the next morning with the realization that she had been at the Sorkis an entire week, and that she was that morning to unpack the things sent down from Portland.

After hurrying through breakfast and the housework, she and Miina rushed up to the cottage where John had left the boxes, barrels and trunks, opened and ready for them. Anne had one moment of panic as she saw the crowded room and realized that here were things which would definitely tie her memories of the past.

There was the great cedar chest with its neatly packed layers of linens; the barrel of dishes. And there were odds and ends of furniture. Smoking stands, coffee tables, book and wall shelves, a radio, and one deep chair with an ottoman to match.

Anne looked at the chair and wished she might do away with it. It was to have been a birthday present to Rob. When she had bought it she had imagined she could see him; dark head against the cushioned rest, herself sitting on the ottoman looking up at him.

That was it, always with Rob she was looking "up." He had demanded it, and because of his years of seniority she had given it. Never had they met on common ground such as she and John were meeting on daily. But why compare Rob and John? She wasn't in love with John.

She would give the chair to Liisa, surely the sight of Liisa's top-knot sliding back and forth would serve as an antidote for any unhappiness she might have at seeing it in the room.

Liisa was delighted when Anne presented it to her that noon. She was delighted with everything. She marched from room to room with pencil and pad, as Anne sat writing a letter to Judge Kellogg, which Liisa would take into town to mail.

The letter off, Anne relaxed. Uncle Lee would arise to this challenge. The fishermen would be treated fairly and she . . . well, somehow the days would pass.

The days did pass. Closed season came on and the boys were free to help with the new home, and "the boys" included John. Not that he was there too often, for there seemed always to be someone calling him to attend to this or that. But it was often enough to make the house seem lonely without him.

And the days passed without hearing from Lee Farnsworth. Judge Kellogg wrote once, and eagerly Anne took his letter to her room to scan it.

Dear Anne:

I saw Lee, yesterday. Had a time seeing him because Farley found out, by some hook or crook, that I was in the outer office and insisted upon attending to Lee's business for him. Farley looks pretty dissipated. He needs a Luke to keep him straight.

However, eventually I bearded the lion in his den; not the lion, he was like a lamb. Poor Lee, his concern over you was pathetic. I told him you were getting along as well as could be expected. I could have been kinder but I thought your plea would have more weight if he felt everything wasn't right.

I told him I had received a report that Crocker owned the traps. He didn't seem angry, but insisted I was mistaken, that the report doubtless came from Crocker's enemies. I also told him of the trap preference and he said he would call Farley in and prove that untrue, as Farley was in charge and would know what was going on.

However, he consented to make a secret investigation and upon this you will have to pin your hopes.

There was more but Anne paid little attention to it. She would wait, she decided, and give Lee time for his investigation. Then if things didn't change, she would act. How she didn't know, time to worry about that later.

It seemed to Anne she had never been on as many picnics; that these Finnish people made a picnic of everything. There were trips to a deserted quarry for old stone with which to build the fireplace; there were picnics inland for plants for their rock garden; and there were picnics along the beach to gather drift-wood which must be stacked and dried and cut.

Sometimes Anne wondered at the happiness of these people with their simple pleasure, wondered, and grew radiantly happy with them.

"If only I didn't have to go away," John said to Anne the Sunday before he sailed. They were aboard the boat, heading for a picnic in a cove up the river. "I wish I hadn't signed on, and yet I'm going to need the money. I'm going to buy that trawler because I want to work for myself."

Anne smiled at him, unable to put into words the desolation she felt at his going.

They beached the boat on smooth sand, built a fire for the inevitable coffee, then sat in the sun talking while the younger children scurried along the beach picking up shells, making sand houses for the waves to wash down, wandering inland for spring flowers.

Tecla and John's mother, a tall, red-haired Irish woman, sought the shade of a tree for their knitting and gossip. Liisa soon joined them, leaving John and Anne alone.

For a long time the two lay stretched in the sand in the shelter of a rock, listening to the slap of tiny waves.

QUAKER ELEVEN TOPS NILES GRIDDERS 13-8

Salem Still Undefeated in Big Six Title Race

Salem High school registered its third consecutive victory Saturday in subduing Niles, 13-8, to keep its record unblemished in the Northeastern Ohio Big Six race.

The Quakers took the lead during the first minute of play after Rees of Niles fumbled the opening kickoff on his own 22-yard line. Hanzlick recovered for Salem and Pukalski went over the goal line a few plays later after taking a lateral from West who had just received the ball on a forward pass from Snyder.

Early in the second half another pass play, Williamson to Pukalski to Snyder, netted 16 yards and put the ball on the Niles 5-yard stripe, after Salem had brought the ball on a steady march from its own territory. Snyder plunged through the line for the score.

In the last quarter Pukalski, in attempting to kick out, was tackled behind his own goal line after a bad pass from center, which gave Niles a safety. A few minutes later Niles scored a tuuchdown on a 34-yard pass from Rees to Yanus.

The lineups:

Salem	Pos.	Niles
Dolansky	LE	Delveaux
Battin	LT	Scarnecchia
Patterson	LG	Sawyer

Salem	6	0	7	0	—13
Niles	0	0	0	8	— 8

Touchdowns—Pukalski, Snyder, Yanus. Point after touchdown — Patterson.

Substitutions: Salem — Yeager, Walker, King, Derienzio. Niles—Gales, Toriello, Boag, Maddox, Schink.

RAY ZEH HOLDS LEAD IN SCORING CONTEST

Ohioan Threatened by Newcomer, Stanley of Williams With 72 Points

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Ray Zeh, Western Reserve fullback, continued to lead the national parade of high scorers today, but a new face burst into the picture to threaten his position.

Zeh scored 16 points against John Carroll Friday night to raise his total to 86 points, but Eddie Stanley of Williams scored four touchdowns against Union to push himself into second place with 72 points. Rogers of Mississippi, Williams of Ohio State and Wilson of Southern Methodist moved into a tie for third place with Davis of Kentucky, who failed to score this week, and remained at 54 points.

CHESTER SCRUBS WIN FROM NEWELL ELEVEN

100-pound Squad In 6-0 Victory Over Down-River Lightweights

Pushing over a touchdown in the second period, Chester's 100-pounders defeated a lightweight Newell High team on the latter's field Saturday, 6-0.

The only score of the game came in the second period after a fake line buck developed into a double lateral and brought the ball from midfield to the Newell 30-yard line. Allison romped around his left end to the two-yard line and Coleman plunged for the touchdown.

COLUMBIANA DOWNS NEWELL GRID OUTFIT

Fisher Accounts For Five of Six Tallies in 38-0 Win

Columbiana, led by ripping, slashing star fullback, one Fisher by name, administered a severe trouncing to Coach Eugene Manson's Newell gridiron aggregation Saturday.

Fisher scored five of his team's six touchdowns in routing the West Virginians, 38-0.

Newell, handicapped by lack of weight and experience, floundered throughout most of the encounter, unable to stop the fast charging Columbiana line and the slashing thrusts of the Blue and White backfield. The Newell defense stiffened considerably in the second half however, and was able to limit the Columbianans to two touchdowns, one in each of the final quarters.

Fisher scored once in the first frame and twice in the second. W. Lesher, Columbiana quarterback, also tallied in the second period and Fullerton added an extra point to give the victors a 25-0 lead at half time. Fisher raced 30 yards to score in the third quarter and climaxed his extraordinary performance of the day with a brilliant 88-yard touchdown dash in the last quarter.

The lineups:

Columbiana	Pos.	Newell
Unger	LE	Manson
Cole	LG	Pickens
E. Lesher	LG	Graham
Poulton	Center	Snowden
Miller	RG	Carmen
Manchester	RT	R. Smith
Logan	RE	Z. Smith
W. Lesher	QB	Mosser
Fullerton	LH	Raimond
Readshaw	RH	Drummond
Fisher	FB	Thornberry

Score by quarters:

Columbiana	6	19	6	7	—38
Newell	0	0	0	0	— 0

DODGERS TOP PIRATES

Pittsburgh Knocked Out of Second Place in 13 to 7 Defeat

The Pittsburgh Pirates of the pro grid league were pushed out of second place in the eastern division at Forbes field Sunday afternoon by the Booklyn Dodgers 13 to 7.

Hubbard and Becker scored for the winners in the first half with Buzz Wetzel getting the lone Pirate tally in the third period.

NEW CUMBERLAND LOSES

Smithfield High smashed its way to a 19-2 victory over New Cumberland Saturday, displaying a hard-driving attack of straight football. The West Virginians fought valiantly, but were unable to halt the smooth-running Ohio machine.

BELLAIRE SCORES FIFTH WIN

Marty Varner's Bellaire eleven, East Liverpool's next grid opponent, downed a strong Wellsburg outfit, 14-0, for its fifth victory of the 1935 campaign. Bellaire has dropped contests to Benwood and Martins Ferry by close scores.

Sundown Stories

Sticky Floors

WILLY NILLY was certainly a happy little man as he drove to the nearest town and shopped for the many things that they needed in Puddle Muddle. It was fine to be able to get provisions, blankets and a great deal else. He would lay in a good supply.

He wished several times that his ears did not point and look so much like the ears of a goat, but he even put this thought away from him quickly. His animal friends in Puddle Muddle were going to help him while he was away, and all because he had a birthday.

That certainly meant that they were glad that he was alive, and it made him glad too.

Back in Puddle Muddle Honey Bear had just taken down a tin from one of the shelves. It was the one she thought that Willy Nilly used when he made the floors soapy before giving them a thorough washing.

"I'll use plenty of this," she told Jelly Bear and the cubs.

She sat down on the floor with the tin, then she took off the cover, and at last she stood up to scatter slowly all over everything what she thought was powdered soap.

"Thats no powdered soap!" growled Jelly Bear. "It has a pleasant smell. it must be something to eat."

The cubs rushed toward their parents but as they did so their feet stuck so that they could hardly move at all.

"What have I done? Oh, what have I done?" moaned Honey Bear.

"You've poured sweet, sticky syrup over everything," said Jupiter Bear as he took a lick.
